

Nixon Hopes to Settle Vietnam War in Year

Social Security Plan Unveiled By President

Cost-of-Living Increases Would Come Automatically

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has proposed $4.25 billion hikes in Social Security reforms and benefits plus a new, automatic locking of the system to cost-of-living increases.

The President outlined his unexpectedly broad proposals for Social Security change Thursday to a Congress apparently eager to go him one better on liberalization.

Beneficiaries have seen inflation whittle almost 8 per cent from their Social Security checks since the last increase in March 1968. Accordingly, the chief executive asked a catch-up, 10 per cent, across-the-board benefit hike effective for payments in April, 1970.

To meet the cost, President Nixon recommended an increase in the maximum earnings subject to Social Security levies from $7,800 today to $9,000 beginning Jan. 1, 1972.

But he also asked that legislated contributions for both employers and employees be pared between 1971 and 1976.

Instead of a jump from 5.2 per cent to 5.7 per cent over that period, the President wants the range 5.1 per cent to 5.5 per cent. The current rate is 4.8 per cent for both worker and employer through 1970.

Present law calls for maintenance of the $7,800 wage base. Therefore despite the proposal for a levy rollback, a worker making the wage maximum would pay $54 more a year under the President's proposal in 1972—$459 versus $405.

In what will probably be his most controversial reform request, Nixon asked an end to the kind of catch-up, benefit increase he proposed for next year.

"I propose that the Congress make certain once and for all that the retired, disabled and the dependent never again bear the brunt of inflation," he said. "The way to prevent future unfairness is to attach the benefit schedule to the cost of living."

First in Field for '70

Lucey Enters Race

MADISON (AP) — Former Lt. Gov. Patrick J. Lucey today announced his candidacy for governor in 1970 on the Democratic ticket, making him the first of several candidates expected to make up the field.

The Madison real estate broker's statement announcing his plans criticized the Republican dominated state administration.

Lucey cited his business and political experience as qualities he said would enable him to help Wisconsin in "this hour of crisis, conflict and confusion."

Lucey made the announcement at a news conference called at his Maple Bluff home overlooking Lake Mendota.

Patrick J. Lucey

At the conference, he accused the Republicans of levying a "crushing income tax burden," ignoring the "plight of our urban centers and programs to train the unemployed," and altering aid formulas to "shatter equal educational opportunities."

"That reputation for bold leadership lies in ruins—destroyed by the miserable marriage of a spineless Republican administration and a run-bent on enriching those of away Republican legislature bent on enriching those of great power and wealth while placing intolerable burdens on those last able to afford it," Lucey said.

Lucey said "narrow-minded attitudes" threaten to "tear the fabric of our society—conflicts between rich and poor, black and white, young and

Criticizes Defeatism In America

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon said Friday he is trying to settle the war in Vietnam before the end of 1970, and declared that proposals to set a deadline for U.S. troop withdrawal destroy and undercut his effort.

He appealed to the nation for "even more support" in pursuing his goal of peace.

At a White House news conference, Nixon twice talked of a settlement before the end of next year, or by the middle of 1971.

Nixon said efforts to impose a cutoff on U.S. involvement destroy the North Vietnam incentive to negotiate by telling the enemy in advance that "If he just waits for 18 months we'll be out anyway."

Inflation Fight

Nixon also declared that administration efforts to curb inflation "have begun to work."

He said budget cuts and other economic steps are taking effect.

Nixon declared anew his confidence in Judge Clement F. Haynsworth, his choice for the Supreme Court, who has encountered some sharp criticism in Senate hearings.

He defended his administration's school desegregation policies, calling it a middle course. "I do not consider it a victory for integration when the federal government cuts off funds for a school..." he said. "That's a defeat for education."

Progress in War

Back on the subject of Vietnam, Nixon said his administration has achieved "some progress" toward a settlement, and has made a comprehensive peace offer which seeks withdrawal of all foreign forces.

The only item not negotiable, Nixon said, is the right of South Vietnam to determine its own destiny, free of outside interference.

Nixon called this a firm and steady course, then sounded this appeal for national backing:

"If we can stay on this course and have some more support in the nation... we have a lot of support but if we can have even more in the nation for this steady course, then the enemy will have some incentive to negotiate, recognizing that... it is not going to win its objective by waiting us out, then the enemy will negotiate and we will end this war before the end of 1970."

Spurs Deadlines

"That is the objective we have," Nixon said.

Forwarded to Senate

Joint Committee Votes To Rid Self of Tarr Bill

MADISON (AP) — Without formal comment on what it thinks of the bill's merits the legislature's Joint Finance Committee forwarded the Tarr task force's shared tax proposals to the Senate Thursday.

The Tarr study group's program calls for a new formula under which the state would share tax revenue with municipalities, and is being supported by a group of mayors representing Milwaukee, Madison, Wausau, Green Bay and Kenosha.

The committee attached no recommendation to the bill after reaching vote deadlines on several questions of passage or indefinite postponement.

Termed "Rotten"

"I'm against the thing on principle," said committee member Kenneth J. Merkel, R-Brookfield, adding: "I say let's get the rotten thing on the floor without amending it. It may not be rotten now, but just wait three years."

The committee's decision to send the bill on to the Senate, however, was considered by supporters of the measure to be something of a first-round victory.

Sen. Henry Dorman, D - Racine, a member of the committee and of the Tarr study group, said the bill "looks better now than it did yesterday."

State revenue secretary James R. Morgan said he is beginning to be optimistic about the bill's chance of adoption.

Nevertheless, Robert Heider, a lobbyist for the League of Suburban Municipalities, predicted the Senate will kill the measure.

The study group, headed by former Lawrence University president Curtis Tarr, has been working about 18 months on the program.

Single Fund

The program is designed to ease the local property tax burden, and to eliminate so-called tax islands in which property owners are allowed low tax rates while using the facilities of highly taxed, neighboring communities.

The Tarr bill recommends that income, highway privilege, liquor and utility taxes be consolidated in a single fund along with property tax relief distribution money.

Funds would be returned to local governments on a basis of $30 per capita, and on the amount of property tax levy exceeding $20 per $1,000 equalized valuation.

Immediate Decision Unlikely

Mrs. Meir Asks Nixon for More Military Hardware

WASHINGTON (AP) — Israel's Prime Minister Golda Meir is briefing President Nixon on the full array of her nation's economic and military needs.

While the White House says there is no need for an immediate decision on her plea for more planes, Nixon has saluted the "brave and courageous people" of Israel.

Toasting the 71-year-old prime minister at a White House dinner Thursday night, Nixon said: "We hope that as a result of our meeting that we will have taken a significant step forward toward that peace which can mean so much to the people of Israel, to the people of all the Mideast and also to the people of the world."

Nixon added that the people of Israel deserve and have earned lasting peace.

Mrs. Meir told Nixon that when she returns home "I will tell my people... don't become cynical, don't give up hope, don't believe everything is just judged only by expediency."

"There is idealism in this world... there is a great and powerful country, the United States, that feels that the existence of Israel is important because it is important that we all live and all exist, no matter how small and how troubled we are."

Some differences of opinion, acknowledged following Nixon's hour-long talk with Mrs. Meir Thursday, apparently center mainly on procedures rather than on Israel's bid for additional military hardware.

U.S. officials hope negotiations through the Big Four powers—the United States, Soviet Union, Britain and France—could bring a compromise solution that would avert open and large-scale war in the Middle East.

Catholics Pushing Harder For Sex Education in U.S.

NEW YORK (AP) — The nation's Roman Catholic bishops have begun a strong push for sex education in both parochial and public schools, despite angry opposition to such teaching from many Catholic laity.

Separate developments in various parts of the country show a deepening conviction among the 280 prelates that harmful sexual attitudes in American life must be fought by positive teaching instead of by just ignoring sex altogether.

Confronting one of the hottest moral issues in the United States this year — The Family Life Division of the U.S. Catholic Conference—USCC—the operational agency of the bishops, endorsed sex education programs at its national meeting in Denver earlier this month, stating that schools must assist families in explaining human life to children.

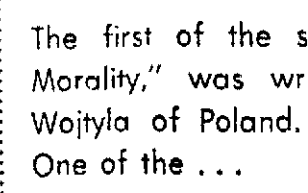

Two cardinals and a bishop issued a joint statement Tuesday supporting sex education programs in the public schools of Maryland, Delaware, and the District of Columbia.

Fall Arrives With Gray Skies, Chilly Winds

Fall came swooping into the Fox Valley during the wee hours of Tuesday morning bringing with it cold winds, gray skies and rain. All of which serves to remind all of us that soon it will be time to rake leaves, store the barbecue grill and prepare the house for winter.

There is no other time of year, however, when the distaff side of the population enjoys buying a new outfit as much as they do in fall. There is something very special about wearing a sharp wool suit and feeling comfortable in it. The excitement about fashions is always at its height at this time of year as women make their way through fashion shops and department stores searching for the "what's new in fashion."

As we here in the Valley are thinking about the ramifications of fall, people in the rest of the world face a variety of situations.

United Airlines announced Wednesday the firing of Deborah Renwick, 17, a Negro stewardess who refused to change her Afro hair style. An airline spokesman said the stewardess was fired Tuesday at the end of a 21-day suspension period during which she made no effort to change her appearance.

He said action was taken against Miss Renwick because her hair style did not conform to the airline's short-hair look. She has been an employee of United for six years, the first three of which she spent in the reservations office.

When Mrs. William Nephew, 28, of Palo Alto, Calif., couldn't find a doctor willing to risk an at-home delivery of her expected child she gave her husband an emergency childbirth manual and told him to do the job. He did, and today the couple has a new daughter, Diana, born last Saturday. There are two other children.

Teens Feel Dating Costs

OSHKOSH (AP) — Teen-agers in Oshkosh feel the dating game has changed in many ways, but several seem most concerned with its rising costs.

"When I was going to college," said Watson Parker, a parent, "we used to go to the library and study, then go down to the grocery store, buy a popsicle, and share it."

Younger Oshkosh residents indicate it isn't that way, anymore.

Said Deffie Palmer, 16, "My parents keep telling me about when they could go to the movies for 10 cents and buy a coke for a nickel. Boys used to be able to take girls every place, but they do not take them out as much now."

Dating Cost More
 "Dating definitely costs more today than it did in the past," said Ron Wolf, 17. "What used to cost a nickel or a dime costs a quarter or 50 cents now. Since there are more job opportunities, most kids have jobs which give them their income instead of asking Dad for the money. Many parents logically object to young people going out night after night and spending their money foolishly."

Donna Fisher, 17, agrees dating costs boys more, but she doesn't believe the parents are concerned.

"It definitely costs more money for a boy to date today. If a guy has a job it really doesn't bother the parents, but it still is a big load for the boy to carry," she said.

"Dating definitely costs more," said Nola Gaede, 16, "but more high school guys are working so they have money to spend."

It isn't that simple, says Benny Kossel, 16. "Cost is a major obstacle to a date. Movies are now usually $1."

Some teen-agers discount the financial problem. "Kids don't have to spend money to have a good time, so money isn't important," said Rosemary Weigert, 17. "You can go to the less expensive places which are just as much fun. If you like the person you're going with, you can have fun wherever you go."

But Gail Hickey, 16, doesn't think liking one's companion is terribly important.

"Why can't everyone just go out for fun, and forget the 'he likes me-she likes me' bit?" she asked. "I think dating has declined, because more boys feel if they ask a girl out, the girl will get serious or get the wrong idea. Sometimes if a girl gets asked out, she thinks the boy likes her, and, in some cases, the boy just wants a good time. Many times there is a misunderstanding that never gets straightened out, and the result is no more dates."

More Social Pressure
 Mrs. Harriet Lavenda, another parent, believes dating has not changed, except that more young people are going steady.

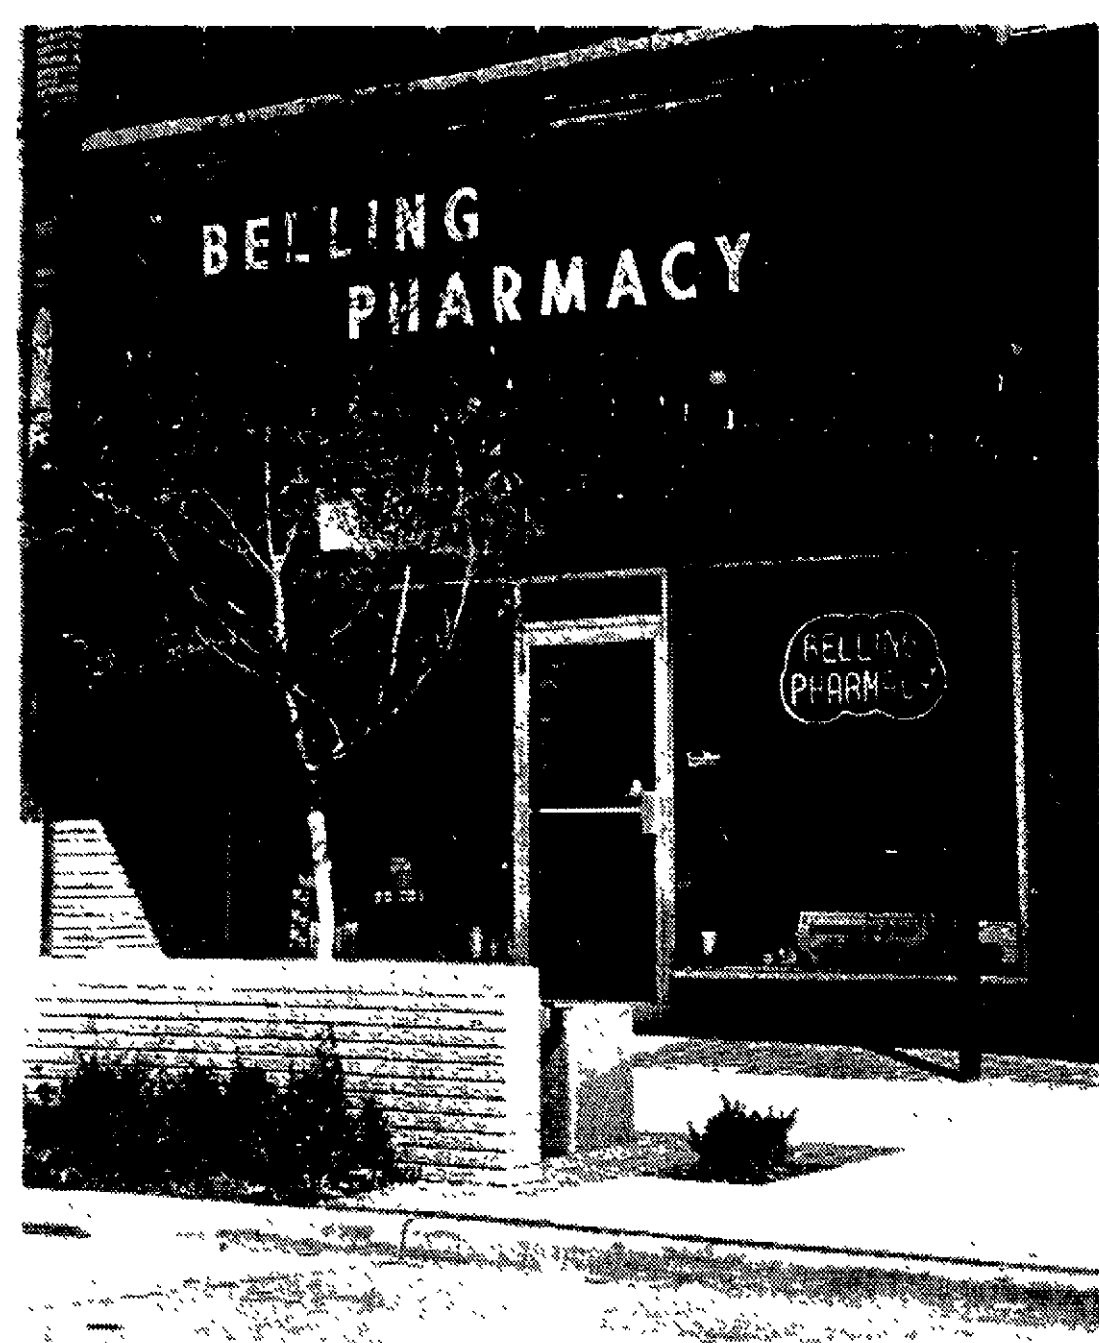

"Now a days," she said, "there seems to be more social pressure. Parents don't want their children to be left out, so they push them into dating and going steady."

Cindy Bruce, 17, feels however that steady dating has declined.

"I think more and more kids are going stag, but it depends where they go. Most kids usually go to a dance with a date, but to the movies, it's usually stag. It seems girls don't trust boys anymore."

And John Mitchell, 16, feels that dating isn't really dating at all.

"Dating has a different concept — nobody uses that term anymore to describe boy-girl relationships. Kids enjoy being together, and they don't have to do something special to have fun."

Minister Fails To Foil Thieves

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — The Rev. James E. Hunter decided to play detective this week after thieves on two occasions stole a typewriter and six air conditioners from Pleasant Union Presbyterian church.

He bought a junk air conditioner, installed it in a church window and watched all one night and part of the next for the thieves to strike again.

Finally he went to bed—and that's when the thieves showed up and got the air conditioner.

Unveiling Slated Steffins Criticizes Plan for Menasha

MENASHA — City Atty Richard Steffins, who holds the only copy now available of the city's proposed comprehensive plan which will be reviewed in public hearing Tuesday, labeled it "almost a monstrosity" today.

"How can you possibly endorse a plan which involves so much of the towns of Menasha and Harrison?" he asked.

He also blasted Victor Gruen & Associates of Los Angeles, who prepared the report, for not sending 50 copies of it to plan commission members before they review it Tuesday night at the public hearing.

"It's going to be a farce to have a public hearing with only one copy," he said. The planners are supposedly going to a public hearing 50 copies with them Tuesday, but by then it will be too late for the plan commission revisions and submit a final and the public to go over them before the hearing.

Steffins said the 100-page report was "wonderful, if the city of Menasha had some way of carrying it out."

"One-third of the report deals with improvements in the Towns of Menasha and Harrison," he noted.

Steffins said that a contract between the city, the planners and the state Department of Local Affairs and Development office specifies that 50 copies be made available to the city for their study before it is brought up at the public hearing.

"How can the planning commission ask questions and make recommendations for changes if they don't even have a copy?" Steffins asked.

The comprehensive plan was begun around two years ago after considerable delay in acquiring federal "701" planning funds to help pay for it.

The funds finally came through from the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) on March 29, 1967, and the contract with Gruen and the state was signed on June 28, 1967.

Local funds, private and public, of $11,320 were used along with $22,640 in 701 planning grant money.

The state reviewed the original plan in July, 1968, and told master planning consultant engineer-planner Jerry Pollak, of the Gruen firm, that more details and implementing the plan and other areas would be needed.

The revised plan has been one copy, completed, with state approval, and will now go to a public hearing 50 copies with them Tuesday, but by then it will be too late for the plan commission revisions and submit a final and the public to go over them before the hearing.

Steffins said the 100-page report was "wonderful, if the city of Menasha had some way of carrying it out."

This is an Artists Conception of the new Seymour State Bank which is scheduled to be started this month. The bank, which is a member of the Valley Bancorporation, will have six teller windows, spacious lobby, conference room and two offices on the ground level. Plans are for a large social room in the basement. A drive-in window is planned on the building's south side. The building will be on the site of the present facility at the intersection of Main and W. Wisconsin streets.

5-Year Capital Program $8.9 Million to Spend

MENASHA — An $8.9 million 5-year capital improvements project, while revenue bonds plan for Menasha will be re-viewed when the city's comprehensive plan is put on review Tuesday night.

The capital improvements plan is part of the total planning package being prepared for the city by Victor Gruen & Associates, Los Angeles and includes expenditures for an expansion of the city's high school and construction of a new junior high.

It includes the estimated expenditure of $2.7 million for expansion of Menasha High School and $1.8 million for construction of a new junior high school.

Priorities Listed

Listed in their order of priority for action between 1969-74 are a fire police station in the proposed civic center area of the downtown redevelopment area, $368,000; public parking in the central city area at $1.8 million; new streets in the central area of the city, $107,800;

A pedestrian area in the central city which would cost $1.9 million; the Menasha High School expansion at Seventh and Milwaukee streets; the new junior high school on Midway Road; a new neighborhood park with no specified location, $100,000; and additional storm sewers in the northeast part of town for $178,000 to go along with matching federal funds.

The total package would come to an estimated $8,945,100, according to the Gruen plan.

Public Hearing

The capital improvements plan is part of the over 100-page plan that will be up for public hearing before the city plan commission at 7 p.m. Tuesday at city hall.

Following the hearing, the planning consultants will make any final revisions on it before it comes out in final form. It will then go to the plan commission, which will review it and approve either parts or all of the report.

Its recommendations will then go to the city common council, who may either accept or reject the plan that cost $33,960 in federal and local funds.

The proposed revenue sources for the $8.9 million package include general obligation bonds for the two school projects, the neigh-

Two Students Guilty of Drug Sales

Jury Finds OSU Student Guilty of Selling Marijuana

OSHKOSH — An 18-year-old Oshkosh State University student Thursday afternoon was found guilty of selling marijuana by a 12-member jury in Circuit Court before Judge William E. Crane.

John J. Pyskaty, former resident of Fletcher Hall, was charged with selling a bag of marijuana for $12 on Dec. 13, 1968 to another student who was an Oshkosh police department informer. Pyskaty had pleaded innocent to the charge.

On Wednesday, a different jury found Daun Korkow, 20, former Oshkosh State University student and former resident of Fletcher Hall, also guilty of selling marijuana.

Although charges against the youths were similar, the cases were apparently unrelated.

Korkow was accused of selling a package of marijuana to another student in his room for $5 on Dec. 18 of last year. The charge against Korkow was brought by the Winnebago County Sheriff's Department detective division.

Robert Henke, Appleton attorney, represented both defendants. He indicated to the court he might file motions in the cases and Judge Crane adjourned sentencing to Oct. 6.

The offenses carry a sentence from two to 10 years in the state prison.

Faculty Recital Tonight Miriam Clapp Duncan In Organ Program

Organist Miriam Clapp Duncan will present the first of this year's Lawrence Conservatory faculty recitals at 8 p.m. today in Memorial Chapel.

Mrs. Duncan, an assistant professor of music, has chosen music primarily from liturgical sources from the 16th through the 20th centuries.

Focal point of her program will be the "Missa 'Orbis Factor'" from the "Fiori Musicali," by Girolamo Frescobaldi, organist of St. Peter's, Rome, in the 17th century.

Impressive Background

Also programmed is the "Choral in B minor," by Cesar Franck; "Passacaglia and Fugue in C minor," by J. S. Bach; "Fantasia and Fugue in D minor, Op. 135b," by Max Reger; the chorale preludes "O Mensch, bewein' dein' Sunde gross," and "Mit freuden zart," by Ernst Pepping; and "Concerto del Sign. Meck," by Johann Gottfried Walther.

Mrs. Duncan, chairman of the Lawrence organ department, received her bachelor's and master's degrees from the American Conservatory, Chicago.

She studied organ with Anton Heiller at the Academy of Music, Vienna, in 1954-55, and spent two summers at the Organ Institute, Andover, Mass. She also studied organ with Leo Sowerby, Luigi Tagliavini and Marie-Claire Alain, and harpsichord with Fernando Valenti and Gustav Leonhardt.

She is an associate of the American Guild of Organists (AGO), past dean of the Northwestern Wisconsin chapter of the guild, and a member of the Lawrence chapter of the honorary music fraternity, Pi Kappa Lambda. She also serves on the sub-commission on music for the Green Bay Diocesan Liturgical Commission, and is sub-dean of the AGO in this area.

Her program will be repeated at 4 p.m. Sunday at Carroll College, Waukesha, as part of an organ series being sponsored by Carroll and the Milwaukee chapter of the AGO.

Menasha Man Aids Victims Hit by Hurricane Camille

BY SALLY NELSON
News-Record Staff Writer

MENASHA — William Zeininger, a Menasha businessman who recently returned from the Hurricane Camille disaster area, described it as "the greatest storm that has ever hit the United States."

Zeininger, a Red Cross volunteer caseworker, spent four weeks helping bring emergency aid to families who lost everything when the 210 mile per hour winds and 20 foot tides destroyed their homes and places of business.

His first assignments, after being called to the scene Aug. 18, was to see that 833 persons housed at the Scottville School, just north of the storm's path, had adequate food and clothing.

Cots Are Home

"Fortunately, near-by military installations were able to send army cots. When you have a bed, you have a place to sit and sleep, he said. The cots became 'home' to many of the victims until other shelter could be found.

Aid to the storm victims was moved in fast and without trouble, said Zeininger. Plaquemines Parish, located on the toe of Louisiana below New Orleans, is mostly swamp country, serviced by only one, two-lane road. It was easy to set up road blocks and control supplies coming in and refugees moving out.

No Panic

No one panicked, said Zeininger. The people of Plaquemines Parish have been hit by at least 16 hurricanes in the past century and knew what to expect.

"When they were warned to move, they moved," said Zeininger. He noted many snakes and animals had been seeking refuge on high

Community Concert Wolfe Trio Applauded

Post-Crescent Sunday Editor

MENASHA — Three musicians who approached their work with a jeweler's precision and a scientist's self-absorption shared their fascination with theme and counterpoint Thursday evening with members of the Neenah-Menasha Community Concert Association.

It was very much a personal, and almost a private experience as the Neil Wolfe Trio—Wolfe at the piano, Lewis Berryman on the bass, and Howard Kaddison on percussion — offered its intricate arrangements of show tunes, contemporary songs and an occasional old favorite.

There was a little bit of Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart and a bit more of Johann Sebastian Bach in evidence as the trio explored the melodic potential of such motion-picture themes as "Mondo Cane," "The Windmills of Your Mind," and "Scarborough Fair."

Although Wolfe and friends dealt with familiar tunes, the approach was by no means condescending, and the trio conjured up nice, spidery cobwebs of sensation as it played with the possibilities of "All the Things You Are", in the style of Mozart, and combined the Beatles' "Yesterday" with Kern's "Yesterdays" to achieve a fascinating amalgam of music, new and old.

Wolfe took over the stage of Menasha High School auditorium to offer a solo interpretation of "Lazy Afternoon," from "The Golden Apple", after which Berryman and Kaddison returned to join him in his "favorite spiritual", "Sometimes I Feel Like a Motherless Child", with what sounded like Mozartian interludes. Kaddison's mastery of the drums, was particularly noticeable in "When Johnny Comes Marching Home."

From Broadway the trio gleaned selections from "Stop the World" and "Fiddler on the Roof". Both yielded tunes that, in the trio's hands, emerged almost as symphonic variations. The program notes, in this instance, were correct; each of Wolfe's numbers is, in truth, "a little production number."

It would appear that the Community Concert season is of to a good start. The next attraction on the schedule is the Romero Quartet, who will appear — also at Menasha High School auditorium—on Wednesday, Nov. 12.

Tools, Battery Taken From Cars

KAUKAUNA — Police are investigating the complaint of Ted Lance, 302 W. Fourth St., who reported a tool box containing approximately $175 in tools taken from the trunk of his car sometime between 5:20 and 5:30 p.m. Wednesday.

The car was parked in his drive at the time and the owner thought the trunk was locked although no pry marks were evident.

David Helf, route 4, Kaukauna, reported a battery stolen from his car while it was parked on Third Street as he worked the 2 to 10 p.m. shift at Badger Northland.

Norman Philippi, 301 1/2 W. Seventh St., reported a car window pried while it was parked on Seventh Street about 9 p.m. Wednesday.

WATPACA — Willard G. Johnson Jr., 17, Iola, and his companion David Gabrielsen, route 1, Iola, received back injuries when the car Johnson was driving turned over on State 49, south of Iola.

The car which was traveling south crossed the centerline, traveled along the left shoulder of the highway for 168 feet and went into the ditch. The car turned over on its top and traveled another 128 feet, according to the county police report.

Johnson was taken to the Iola Hospital and stayed overnight for observation.

Vandals Hit Boathouse

NEENAH — Damage was estimated at well over $3,000 when vandals broke into a boathouse owned by Gerald Aldridge, 408 E. Wisconsin and stole a television set, a pair of binoculars.

Police said the vandals apparently turned on a boat hoist and allowed it to slowly pull the boat house apart. It occurred sometime Tuesday night or early Wednesday morning.

Traffic Counts Send Youth to Jail 20 Days

Judge Cites Poor Record, Attempt to Elude Police Squads

Saying he was taking into consideration the youth's poor driving record and the "hazard" he created by attempting to outrun police, Outagamie County Judge Nick F. Schaefer Thursday afternoon sentenced Eugene Riehl, 19, 1612 N. Outagamie St., to jail for 20 days.

Riehl was to have had trial in Court Branch 2 Thursday on charges of attempting to elude police, reckless driving, improper display of license plates, and going through three stop signs.

The charges were brought by Grand Chute police who along with Appleton and Outagamie County police, chased Riehl's car at high speeds in and near Appleton early May 29.

Atty. Roger Clark, representing the Town of Grand Chute, asked for dismissal of two stop sign charges and the charge of improperly displaying license plates.

No Contest

Riehl, through his attorney, changed his pleas to no contest and was found guilty of the other three counts.

Schaefer ordered the 20-day jail term, under Huber Law, on the attempting to elude count. He further fined Riehl $50 and costs or 12 days in jail on the reckless driving count, and $25 or six days on the stop sign violation. He also suspended Riehl's driver's license for four months.

At the request of the defense attorney and with no objection from the prosecution, Schaefer allowed Riehl to remain free until Monday morning to give him time to make proper adjustments with his employer.

High Speed

Al Elsing, a Grand Chute policeman, told the court he started pursuing Riehl's car about 1:30 a.m. after noticing it leave a W. College Avenue restaurant at high speed and go through two stop signs.

The chase continued into Appleton on Spencer Street, at speeds exceeding 95 miles per hour, Elsing said. He told the Court Riehl's car nearly struck a city squad car.

Riehl lost police for a time, but later was apprehended as he was looking under the hood of his vehicle near Wisconsin and Badger Avenues. Elsing said the chase covered about seven miles.

Clark told the court Riehl has had several driving convictions.

"Keep driving the way you have been and one thing is sure to happen; you'll be involved in a serious accident that could kill you or someone else," Schaefer warned Riehl.

Appleton Water Department Is Awarded Honor

MILWAUKEE — The Wisconsin division of the American Water Works Association has given its advancement award this year to the Appleton Water Department.

The group made the award on the basis of the Appleton utility's community relations program. The choice qualifies Appleton for the association's national judging.

The state division is holding its annual convention here. Named chairman Thursday was Fred Nelson, Kenosha water utility manager. Robert Clancy of Baraboo was chosen vice chairman and Leroy J. Beckman, Madison, was elected a national director.

For its water system improvement program, the Marshfield utility won a citation in judging in that field.

Bond Forfeited

Errol J. Simpson, 31, 317½ W. College Ave., forfeited a $29 bond in Outagamie County Court Branch 2 today on a public intoxication charge brought by Appleton police who arrested him at College Avenue and Division Street early Sept. 23.

the house-starved Fox Valley came last week in a letter to Kenneth Theine, Fox Valley Council of Governments (COG) associate planner who is heading up a regional housing study. He listed contractors and for which communities they had reservations.

From mid-August to mid-September, he wrote, eight contractors were granted reservations for 207 houses in the Oshkosh to Kaukauna area. They are McClone Construction and Supply Co. Inc., Menasha; Redi-Bilt Homes, Inc., Appleton; Fox Valley Builders; E & R; Prestige; Smith-Pilgreen Construction & Realty, Inc., Neenah; Home Lumber and Registered Homes, Inc., Oshkosh.

Earlier this year, Fox Valley Builders was granted 34 and E & R 25, both for Appleton.

Sale Assured

When a contractor is given a reservation, he then can build a home and be assured it will be sold through the subsidy program, by which the federal government pays part of the interest, depending on the buyer's ability to pay.

Qualifying incomes vary by county. In Outagamie, a single person, with no dependents can qualify, if he makes under $4,590 per year, while a 10-member family can qualify if their income is no more than $9,450.

In Winnebago, the range is from $4,310 for one person to $9,720 for a family of 10.

There are minimum standards, too, preventing a low income family from qualifying. This is mainly because persons with too low an income could not afford the payments under the program.

Top Officials Scheduled for Youth Parley

STEVENS POINT — Two members of the President's Cabinet and a Wisconsin Congressman will be speakers at the third biennial Laird Youth Leadership Conference Oct. 27 on the campus at Stevens Point State University.

Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird will be host for the conference, and Robert H. Finch, Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare will deliver the keynote address.

Rep. Clement J. Zablocki, D-Wisconsin, who is the ranking member of the House Committee on Foreign Affairs, has accepted an invitation to discuss "America's Involvement in World Affairs."

William H. Meckling, executive director of the President's Commission on an All-Volunteer Armed Force, will serve as discussion leader on the session "Military Service: Voluntary or Lottery."

22-Year-Old Man Nabbed in Bank At Cedar Grove

CEDAR GROVE, Wis. (AP)—A 22-year-old man was arrested shortly before 3 a.m., today in the Cedar Grove branch of the Citizens Bank of Sheboygan, authorities said.

The sheriff's office, describing the man as a temporary resident of Sheboygan County, said he was apprehended by officers after a nearby resident saw him entering the bank through a side door window. The man was held for questioning.

A bank spokesman said the vault was unopened and no money was missing.

Youth to be Tried on Tippy Driving Charge

Wesley R. Nielson, 18, 1315 E. Frances St., will stand trial Nov. 24 on a charge of driving while under the influence of intoxicants.

Appleton police arrested the youth on the northeast side the night of Sept. 18. He appeared in Outagamie County Court Branch 2, where he pleaded innocent today.

Downtown Restaurant Fight Proves Costly

A fight in a downtown Appleton restaurant cost Thomas A. Schilling, 21, 318 Linwood Lane, Neenah, $35 and costs or eight days in jail this morning. He appeared today in Outagamie County Court Branch 2.

Gerald Kersten, 40, route 2, Weyauwega, with whom Schilling was fighting about 1:30 a.m. Sept. 1, was fined $35 and costs last week. Both pleaded guilty of disorderly conduct.

Thomas Warns Legislators

New Tax Laws Threaten Wisconsin Manufacturers

A Fox Cities industrialist warned state legislators today the new tax law places Wisconsin manufacturers in "economic jeopardy" and will curtail their future expansion in the state.

The assessment was contained in a letter from J. T. Thomas, Kaukauna, general chairman of the Wisconsin Paper Industry Information Service, an association of state paper manufacturers.

Thomas, also president of Thilmann Pulp & Paper Co., said that portions of the bill studied so far will assess the paper industry alone an equivalent increase in state income tax of 147 per cent. The percentage will undoubtedly go higher as additional sections are considered, he wrote.

hour day basis. However, they questioned whether, under FAA control, three men would be considered sufficient.

Webster suggested seeking industry support in paying for the tower, but John Barlow, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce's airport tower subcommittee, noted that Kimberly-Clark Corp., the only industry on the field, "is getting a free ride and likes it that way."

Barlow added the firm has given no indication it is willing to help pay for a tower.

Estimated personnel costs ranged from about $35,000 annually, if the county operated the tower, to about $60,000 if the FAA operates it. In either case, the county would be required to pay the total bill until such time as the FAA put up its own tower at the airport.

Huber Law Officer Picked

Clayton Smith Hired for Post by Outagamie Sheriff

Clayton F. Smith, 50, 2108 N. Richmond St., will begin Oct. 1 as a new Huber Law officer in the Outagamie County Sheriff's Department.

Sheriff Calvin Spice told the county board's law enforcement committee today that he hired Smith to fill a vacancy that was created last February with the promotion of Ray Klein, from Huber Law officer to radio operator.

The job has been filled on a part-time basis by department personnel, Spice said.

Smith, who has lived in the Appleton area for many years, is now a salesman for an Oshkosh food firm. He has five children.

There were only four applications for the job. The Huber Law office administers the work release program for persons sentenced to jail. Outagamie was a pioneer in the program in the nation.

Carleton Aerial Attack to Test Strong Vike Defense

Lawrence Seeks to Avenge Last Year's 8-7 Setback; LU Ground Game Potent

BY JIM HARP
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Sporting the best defensive average in the Midwest Conference, the Lawrence University football team can expect another strong challenge when it travels to Northfield, Minn., to meet Carleton College Saturday.

The Vikes, who evened their MC record at 1-1 last weekend, face a Carleton team that has a deceptive 0-2 record. In addition, Lawrence will be well-remembering and 8-7 setback suffered last season when the Vikes were rated a heavy favorite against the Carls.

The reason that the Carleton record is deceptive stems from the fact that only three other conference teams have scored more points than the Carls.

Last Second Pass
In the season opener, Carleton lost to Grinnell, 28-26, as a last-second pass for the tying points after a touchdown, dribbled off the hands of a receiver. Then last Saturday, the Carls rolled up 28 points, but suffered a 43-28 loss at the hands of a strong, Monmouth team.

Coach Ron Roberts has been gearing his squad to take nothing for granted going into the Carleton contest.

"You won't catch us looking past Carleton this year," the Lawrence mentor observed. "A lot of these boys remember what happened at home last season."

Strong point of the Carleton attack has been the passing of John Snowberg. In the game against Grinnell, the 5-8 quarterback tossed three touchdown passes in the final quarter. Carleton has averaged 155 yards per game through the air compared to only 52 for the Vikes.

Offsetting this, however, is the rushing statistics, which show Lawrence averaging 241 yards on the ground to only 38 for the Carls.

Defensively, Lawrence has allowed an average of 117 yards per game rushing and only 41 on passes. It will be this tough pass defense that will again be called on to hold off an opponent. Last weekend the Vikes were successful in stopping the potent Coe aerial game.

Carleton ranks sixth in the conference defensively, giving up 209 yards per tilt by rushing and 147 yards passing. Grinnell is the leader in the rushing department by limiting foes to only 58 yards a game.

Coach Roberts has indicated that John Van De Hey, who led the Vikes to the 42-14 romp over Coe last Saturday, will be at quarterback against Carleton. Van De Hey took over the signal-calling duties in the first game when starter Paul Rechner was injured.

Van De Hey scored three touchdowns and passed for another TD last weekend. He currently is in a 6-way tie for the conference scoring lead.

Rechner has recovered from his injury, according to Roberts

Houston Drops Reds Farther Off the Pace
Red Sox Climb Within 1 Game of Second-Place Tigers

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

There is, believe it or not, a crucial series coming up in, of all places, the American League's East Division.

That's the East Division where the Baltimore Orioles have had the pennant officially clinched for two weeks and unofficially wrapped up for two months.

That's the East Division where the Orioles have won 108 games and lead the second-place team by 22 games.

Second place—that's where the crucial series takes place. Runner-up Detroit dropped a 7-2 decision to Washington Thursday and third-place Boston whipped New York 4-3, leaving the Red Sox just one game behind the Tigers.

Two teams open a three game series . . . label it crucial . . . in Boston tonight.

Elsewhere in the American League Thursday Baltimore downed Cleveland 4-1, Chicago nipped Kansas City 2-1 in 10 innings, Oakland whipped California 7-6 and Seattle trimmed Minnesota 5-1.

In the National League, Pittsburgh swept a doubleheader from Philadelphia 5-3 and 9-7 and Houston topped Cincinnati 4-3.

Hurls 3-Hitter
Washington's victory over Detroit came on a three-hitter by Dick Bosman and assured the Senators of a .500 season for the first time since 1953.

Ken McMullen drove in three runs for Washington, one of them with his 19th home run. The victory gave the Senators, fourth in the East, an 81-75 record with six games left to play.

The Red Sox closed in on Detroit, beating the Yankees for the fourth straight time Mike Nagy won his 12th game with late help from Sparky Lyle while George Scott and Gerry Moses supplied the offense with home runs.

Horace Clarke homered for the Yankees.

Dave Johnson slugged a two-run homer, breaking a sixth-inning tie for Baltimore and Dave McNally beat Cleveland for his 20th victory of the season.

The triumph left the Orioles just three victories away from Cleveland's record 111 set in 1954. The Birds have six games remaining.

Duels University School Fox Lutheran '11' Launches League Season Saturday

BY JOHN L. PAUSTIAN
Post-Crescent Sports Editor

Fox Valley Lutheran, the only Midwest Prep Conference team that didn't win a league game last season and the only one that hasn't lost a non-loop contest this year, begins the 1969 championship chase Saturday.

FVL, which posted a 2-0-1 record in preconference play, travels to University School (1-1), Milwaukee, for the MPC lid-lifter at 2 p.m. Saturday.

In other openers, it will be defending champion Wisconsin Lutheran (1-2) at Racine Lutheran (1-1); Milwaukee Lutheran (1-1) at Wayland (1-1); and Northwestern (0-1) at Concordia (1-2).

The Dave Umnus-coached Foxes, in their impressive non-league showing, beat Southern Door and Onalaska Lutheran, while tying Little Chute. FVL outscored its combined opposition, 44 to 20.

5 Foxes Score
Five different Foxes have broken into the scoring column already. Quarterback Bill Lecker leads the way, with 14 points — on two touchdowns and a 2-point conversion. Bob Hart has tallied two FVL touchdowns. Those scoring one TD apiece are Clay Gardiner, Eric Troge and Jeff Grow.

FVL, in handling Onalaska Lutheran its first loss last weekend, flashed a strong ground game. Grow and Gardiner accumulated 146 and 80 yards, respectively.

The Foxes are also dangerous in the overhead game. Lecker, last year, passed for the Foxes' lone score in a 12-6 loss to University School, which finished third in the conference.

Lecker's opposite number, Roc Bauman, is also back. Last year, Bauman threw for one touchdown and ran for the other in the Wildcats' win over the Foxes.

Penn State Faces Colorado

Ohio State Heavy Favorite to Win Opener From TCU

Ohio State launches its football season Saturday—and it's not expected to take very long for Coach Woody Hayes' veteran national champs to reach orbit.

The Buckeyes are overwhelming favorites to brush aside Texas Christian and extend their nation's longest winning streak to 16 games.

"It'll be a high scoring game," predicted Hayes, but with the mass of talent available, it will probably be the No. 1 ranked Buckeyes doing most of the scoring.

Hayes has 18 of 22 regulars back from last year's squad which rolled past 10 straight foes, including Southern California in the Rose Bowl.

Excellent Depth
And, the Bucks boast excellent depth at every position, particularly the backfield headed by quarterbacks Ron Maciejowski and Rex Kern, fullback Jim Otis and halfbacks Larry Zelina, Ray Gillian, John Brockington and Leo Hayden.

The Horned Frogs, behind Steve Judy's four touchdown passes, rallied from a 35-7 deficit in their opener last week before losing to Purdue 42-35.

But TCU surrendered 583 yards in that game—and the Horned Frogs should have even more trouble containing Ohio State's potent, versatile attack.

Meanwhile, explosive Penn State, ranked No. 2, is favored to beat Colorado, although the Buffs have an excellent quarterback in Bob Anderson. Penn State opened with a 45-22 trouncing of Navy last week, scoring three touchdowns during a 3½-minute burst in the third quarter, while Colorado mauled Tulsa 35-14.

Colts Down to Three Healthy Pass Receivers

BALTIMORE (AP) — Two days before Sunday's National Football League game against the Minnesota Vikings, the Baltimore Colts are down to three healthy receivers.

Tight end Tom Mitchell became the latest casualty Thursday, twisting his knee while running a pass pattern. He immediately left the practice session and had an ice pack applied.

Wide receivers Jimmy Orr and Ray Perkins are nursing slight muscle pulls suffered in last Sunday's opener against the Los Angeles Rams.

The three healthy receivers include tight end John Mackey, and wide receivers Willie Richardson and rookie Ed Hinton.

Offensive guard Dan Sullivan missed Thursday's practice with a pulled leg muscle which kept him out of last week's game.

"It looks like Dan will not be ready for the Viking game," said Coach Don Shula. "The others, we hope, will be although we can't tell about Mitchell at this time."

College Football Second Readers Most Interested in Pro Football, Sports Survey Shows

NEW YORK (AP) — Professional football is the nation's No. 1 sport according to an Associated Press Managing Editors' Association Sports Committee survey, but there are surprising variations in reader interests by age and region.

The survey was made under the chairmanship of Larry Jinks, managing editor of the Miami Herald, with the professional guidance of Carl J. Nelson Research, Inc.

Among male readers the top 11 sports were in order: professional football, college football, basketball, professional basketball, college basketball, Indianapolis type car racing, golf, boxing, track, fishing and horse racing.

In explaining some of the detailed findings based on surveys by 97 newspapers of 789 male readers and 188 female, Jinks said:

"Pro football is more popular in the East and college football is more popular in the central area of the country. Baseball, pro basketball, hockey and golf are more popular in the East. More people in the West want to read about automobile racing of all kinds and about boating and boxing."

"It should be pointed out that in most cases the percentage differences are not great in this generalized regional division. Far more significant, perhaps, are the percentage breakdowns by age of readers."

"Here we find that the three types of automobile racing considered—stock car, drag and Indianapolis type—are all strikingly more popular among younger readers. The 18-to-24 age group lead in all three categories by a large margin, and the 25-to-34 group are a comfortable second in each category."

"Younger readers lag slightly behind others in their enthusiasm for professional football and college football, although the interest remains quite high. Surprisingly 60 per cent of the younger group are 'very interested' in baseball—placing this group second only to the 50-to-60 category in baseball interest—and the youngest group led everybody in liking professional basketball."

One of the surprises of the survey was the strong fourth place finish of professional basketball, which was tenth in an APME survey of sports editors in 1959 and eighth in another in 1967.

"One mild surprise," said Jinks, "at least to many observers, was the strong hold that baseball—considered by some a declining sport—still has on readers."

Strong Interest

Jinks also reported strong interest in statistics on sports pages and said the survey showed that "sports readers depend strongly on newspapers for relevant tabulated detail—box scores, football summaries, racing entries and results, and the like."

The survey was confined to readers who expressed an interest in sports. In the top sports, 80 per cent of the males questioned said they were very interested in pro football and 17 per cent said they were interested.

Aaron Warns, 'We Can't Get Over-Enthusied'

Sets Sights on Career Homer Mark, Needs 5 RBI for 100

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Hank Aaron says the Atlanta Braves, fighting for the National League West title, "can't get over-enthusiased because we've got five games left."

But, he adds, "If we continue to win, nobody can catch us." The Braves begin a three-game series with San Diego tonight and close the season here against Cincinnati next Tuesday and Thursday.

Atlanta holds a 1½-game lead over San Francisco and a 3½ game edge over Cincinnati, the only teams still in contention for a berth in the National League playoffs opposite the amazing New York Mets.

Won Seven on Road "I suppose there's no better place to be than in first place," Aaron said Thursday, an off day for the Braves following a road trip in which they won seven and lost three.

Atlanta returned to the top in the division when San Diego whipped the Giants Tuesday and Wednesday.

Aaron is the only present Brave who played in the 1957 and 1958 World Series in which the Milwaukee Braves split with the New York Yankees. He says the 1969 pennant race doesn't compare with those because Milwaukee won it easily both years.

"I don't think there has ever been a race like this one," he said.

Not Satisfied "I'm not completely satisfied with my year, but if we can go on and win the pennant I'll be happy," Aaron said.

His .301 batting average is 13 goal line you lost the ball. So points below his lifetime average but he could set a new career high in home runs. Aaron has 43 presently, one less than the league leader, Willie McCovey of the Giants. Aaron's career high was 45 in 1962. He also is only five RBIs away from reaching the 100 mark for the 10th time in his career.

Midwest Swami

Liska Picks UCLA, Purdue to Win

BY JERRY LISKA

CHICAGO (AP) — The Midwest Football Swami has thrown his crystal ball and oiled soul up his computer.

After last weekend's season-opening round in which Big Ten teams figured in nine games averaging 60 points per outing—the Swami had a 7-2 picking record — you just put the computer on automatic pilot.

We push the button and fall back with: Purdue 21, Notre Dame 19 — The Fighting Irish last won over Lafayette in 1961 and after 1963, 1965 and 1967 defeats there, call Ross-Ad Stadium the Snake Pit. Mike Phipps is carrying on without Leroy Keyes but figures to bombard the ground-hugging Irish.

Ohio State 20, Texas Christian 13 — The Horned Frogs hopped late through the heat and Purdue reserves to scare the Boilermakers in a 42-35 loss.

But No. 1 Ohio State won't dil-ly-dally in striving for its 15th straight victory in the Buckeye opener at home.

Michigan State 28, Southern Methodist 21 — Chuck Hixson of SMU failed to torpedo Air Force and Georgia Tech, so Michigan State's Spartans should be able to get the bugs out of their triple-prize attack without stumbling against Washington. Michigan State showed the Big Ten's best opening-round defensive effort ger with a 27-11 victory.

Indiana 19, California 12 — The Hoosiers' about-outlast defense should outlast the Bears in their home debut. But California, a 17-0 loser to powerful Texas, won't be the pushover Indiana — Ohio University's Bobcats ana had in a 58-30 track meet victory at Kentucky. Missouri 19, Illinois 13 — Missouri pulled one out of the fire against Air Force, 19-17, and Illinois blew its opener in the closing seconds to Washington State, 9-18. The Tigers are rated strong Big Eight contender. Illinois is rebuilding in the Big Ten. But the game is at Busch Stadium where strange things happened this year, like the collapse of the St. Louis Cardinals.

Michigan 28, Washington 14 — Michigan has uncovered a good quarterback in Don Moorhead and will be healthier than in its 42-14 romp over Vanderbilt. Washington is big, but perhaps not quick enough for the Wolverines.

Southern California 30, Northwestern 13 — (Saturday night) — Northwestern coach Alex Agase says the Trojans aren't missing O.J. Simpson and are stronger on defense than last year. Better protection for Wildcat passer Dave Shelbourne could make it a ball game.

Iowa 21, Washington State 19 — The Cougars needed a second-chance field goal to snatch victory from Illinois. Quarter-steady Iowa after a 42-14 surprise spanking from Oregon.

UCLA 28, Wisconsin 14 — Bad-opening-round defensive effort ger Alan Thompson can grind out yardage on the ground, but the darts of UCLA's Dennis Hoos-Dummit will puncture Wisconsin's sin in bid to end a 21-game victory famine.

Minnesota 21, Ohio University 14 — Ohio University's Bobcats

Since 6 p.m. Wednesday 17-Year-Old First in Line for Mets Tickets

By MIKE RECHT

NEW YORK (AP) — While the groundskeepers tried to putters and New York Yankees in, Shea Stadium back together 1941.

Missed Clincher Although he did miss the clincher and the Metsomania that followed, Mark did not come out of the evening empty-handed. One of the departing players gave him a bottle of champagne.

It's been a long time since New York baseball fans had anything to wait in line for. It's the first time ever for Mets fans, and Yankee fans haven't come up with a winner since 1964.

While Mark waited in line and Mayor John Lindsay declared next week as Mets Week, the Mets still were loudly celebrating. By Thursday afternoon, they were toasting in a recording studio in midtown Manhattan where they cut an album. They play baseball better than they sing.

And Thursday night, Seaver and Jones won over a national television audience as they cut up with Johnny Carson. And this promises to be just the beginning for the Mets, baseball's greatest fairy tale.

"Now we gotta beat them other guys," says Casey Stengel. heavy on golf courses since snowmobiles were first allowed in the winter of 1965-66, they said.

Ban Snowmobiles From Golf Courses in Milwaukee County

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Golfers were one-up Thursday over snowmobile fans after the Milwaukee County Park Commission voted to ban the motorized sleds from the County's network of park lands.

Officials said it was costing too much in the spring to repair the damage caused by the winter sport.

Damage has been particularly heavy on golf courses since snowmobiles were first allowed in the winter of 1965-66, they said.

The commission was told that snowmobile rentals and permits were not producing enough revenue to meet costs, and that the county has lost more than $31,000 on the program.

Increased Danger A steady increase in liability insurance premiums and a constant danger to other persons using the parks were additional reasons for cancelling the program.

Robert H. Ehlert, an assistant assistant park superintendent, said rental snowmobiles have governors that limit speeds to 30 miles an hour. But privately owned snowmobiles, he said, have traveled so rapidly through the parks that supervisors have been unable to catch them.

The commission took under advisement a recommendation for construction of an auto drag strip for use in the summer, and for use as a snowmobile track in the winter.

Football and Single Girl Elinor Says Packers And Colts Will Win

BY ELINOR KAINE

Oakland Raiders 31—Boston Patriots 3 at Boston

The Boston pass rush (Antwine, Hunt and Eisenhauer) is old. They aged overnight. Daryle Lamonica should finally have a good game.

Denver Broncos 14—Buffalo Bills 6 at Buffalo

Green Bay Packers 35—San Francisco 49ers 14 at Milwaukee

Perhaps the Pack IS back after all. 49ers haven't defense to bother Bart Starr, and it doesn't seem to take much to bother Brodie.

Dallas Cowboys 21—New Orleans Saints 20 at New Orleans

Craig Morton will be back at Cowboy QB but may be off a little. With the Saints at home, Cowboys, if Andy Livingston can control the ball Dallas may have a little trouble.

Washington Redskins 24—Cleveland Browns 17 at Cleveland

Vince Lombardi has absolutely nothing at all to do with this upset special. But Cleveland will have three babes in the woods of their defensive backfield if Erich Barnes is hurt, and this is just Sonny Jurgensen's cup of tea. If Sam Huff lasts another game he can wreak havoc on Bill Nelsen, who may have gotten along without Leroy Kel-

Rookie QB Greg Cook has looked great against the Dolphin defense and a young Charger defense. But the Chief defense will be a painful baptism and Cook's first look at the big leagues. A real close-up look, probably looking up from a prone position.

New York Jets 35 — San Diego Chargers 34 at San Diego

Imagine! Joe Willie was so beat up after the Broncos that he went straight to Long Beach with the rest of the Jets, and skipped his annual layover in La Vegas. If Lance Alworth shapes up against Cornel Gordon, the Jets' question mark at corner-back, the Chargers might even win this one!

Los Angeles Rams 31 — Atlanta Falcons 9 at Los Angeles

Falcons have good running but running against Ram front is different from running against 49er front four. It's like a wall of stone compared to a wall of marshmallow. And passing against the Rams ... but the Falcons don't pass much anyway.

Philadelphia Eagles 20 — Pittsburgh Steelers 13 at Philadelphia

Last week in Philly Browns' QB Bill Nelsen said he didn't like the phony field that he was throwing off balance. Steeler QB Dick Shiner throws off balance all the time. That's why their offense is so peculiar.

Baltimore Colts 20 — Minnesota Vikings 10 at Minnesota

If John Unitas threw three interceptions vs. the Rams he may very well throw four against the Vikes, but the Vike's throwing game is even more suspect. Gary Cuozzo is just looking awful, and granted that Joe Kapp hasn't many hours this exhibition season shouldn't Bud Grant start Kapp? I vote yes, yes, a thousand times yes.

'Boyfriend' at Oshkosh Refreshing Diversion

Started Out as Workshop Project but Turned Into Well-Staged Musical Comedy

BY DAVID F. WAGNER
Post-Crescent Staff Writer
OSHKOSH — What began as a summer workshop project at Oshkosh State University has turned into a full-fledged musical comedy.

Sandy Wilson's "The Boyfriend," a parody of the twenties, first saw light at OSU this summer, but without the benefit of the full orchestra. Now, with elaborate costumes and sets, as well as an 11-piece orchestra, "The Boyfriend" is light entertainment, well-done — a diversion.

It opened a four-night run in the Little Theater Wednesday, which represents a change in itself. Previously, OSU productions played Thursdays through Saturdays, but, due to increased demand for seats, this season will see Wednesday night openings.

Technically Fine
Gloria Link's direction is its usual professional best and Charles Schmitt's costumes and sets are inventive and colorful, but one learns to expect that from Mr. Schmitt. The orchestra, under James Sohre's direction, was generally quite good, but brass on opening night suffered from time to time. Michael Larkin handled choreography well, using the considerable talents of his cast to pleasing advantage.

"The Boyfriend" is not a particularly outstanding musical — in fact, it's referred to in the production notes as a "huge musical joke," intended or otherwise, I'm not certain — but it does require personnel with several talents. One cannot get by with good acting, or good singing, alone. Leads must do as much as said above, it is pleasant both or the "huge... joke" real-ly becomes one. It helps to be a good dancer, as well.

Lead Enjoyable
Fortunately, Dr. Link has such players at her disposal. The female lead, attractive, three acts) concludes Saturday.

petite Carol Farnell, as Polly Browne, always improves a stage with her presence. Although her singing range is limited and her voice is small, it can be, and is, quite enjoyable.

Several robust characters, portrayed by robust individuals, made the evening even sweeter. Particularly pleasant were Karl Smith as Polly's friend, Maisie; Ginger Bongle as Madame Dubonnet, mistress of the girls school attended by Polly and Maisie; Ray La Point as Bobby, Maisie's admirer; Ken Risch as Tony, Polly's sweetheart, and Rick Weisheim as old Lord Brockhurst, Tony's father.

Others contributing to the production were Karen Krause as Hortense, the maid at the school; Sue Kobylski, Ellen Loomans and Sally Miller as Dulcie, Fay and Nancy, other friends of Polly; Jerry Schmidt, Roger Piecher and Jim Pabian as Marcel, Pierre and Alphonse, French admirers of Dulcie, Fay and Nancy; DuWayne Stowe as Percival Browne, rich father of Polly and one-time lover of Madame Dubonnet; Vicki VanHeuvel as Lady Brockhurst, and Chuck Bauer in two minor roles of policeman and waiter.

Latin Dance
An interesting aside was a Latin dance number by Barbara Pugh and La Point, as in fact, it's referred to in the production notes as a "huge musical joke," intended or otherwise, I'm not certain — but it does require personnel with several talents. One cannot get by with good acting, or good singing, alone. Leads must do as much as said above, it is pleasant both or the "huge... joke" real-ly becomes one. It helps to be a good dancer, as well.

"The Boyfriend" continues its run at 8 p.m. tonight. The short such players at her disposal. The female lead, attractive, three acts) concludes Saturday.

Tina Chen, China-Born actress with only one minor film role to her credit, plays the lead feminine role in "The Hawaiians," now being filmed in the Islands.

Robert Reed Has Lead in 'Brady Bunch'

BY TV SCOUT

7-7:30 (Channel 11-9) — Robert Reed (late of The Defenders) shows up in The Brady Bunch as still another TV widower, but that quickly changes. He marries a widow, played by Florence Henderson. The kicker is that the widower has three sons, the widow three daughters. This sort of planned parenthood leads to instant pandemonium. In the debut we see the wedding scene bringing them all together. Naturally, something must go wrong and the new family's dog and cat supply that action causing chaos.

7-30-8 (Channel 11) — Monte Markham (The Second Hundred Years) plays his new series role, the lead in Mr. Deeds Goes To Town, with a combination of warmth and whimsy. Longfellow Deeds is the character created by Clarence Buddington Kelland, and brought to the movies by Gary Cooper. Deeds is the tuba-playing editor of a small town newspaper who leads a happy, uncluttered life until one day when he is informed that he is a multimillionaire. Not only does he have instant wealth, he also has a conglomerate (a new twist since Deeds first came to life) which he has inherited from his uncle.

7-30-9 (Channel 5) — The Name of the Game has a good rock 'em, sock 'em episode on the brutalities of the rock-folk music business. Robert Stack stars, leading an investigation that starts with the murder of a popular musician. Despite the good cast, including Norman Fell, Russ Tamblyn, Sal Mineo, Keenan Wynn and Michael Anderson, Jr., the acting honors go to Sharon Farrell as an extroverted swinger-singer whose temper is the equal of her gusty performing.

9-10 (Channels 11-9) — If the new musical-variety series, Jimmy Durante Presents the Lennon Sisters, is able to keep the pace of its premiere, it should stay around for a while. The reason for its success tonight is Jack Benny, who appears with Durante for the first time in their careers. They are particularly good in concert, Durante and Benny, piano and violin. Another excellent scene has Durante with guests Jimmy Dean and Noel Harrison.

8-10 (Channel 2-7) — The concluding segment of the tension-filled film, "The Guns of Navarone," is the feature on The Friday Night Movies. The team of saboteurs, including Gregory Peck, Anthony Quinn, David Niven, Anthony Quayle and Stanley Baker, scales the cliffs of the Aegean island, infiltrating its near-impregnable walls and silencing its guns for the protection of the Allied fleet.

6-30-7 (Channels 2-7) — Get Smart gets a unique reprieve. Cancelled by one network, it shows up on another in a new day and time, but looking just the same. There will be a significant change this season, however, and we get news of it tonight — 99 is going to have a baby. When she tells Max, the unflappable agent gets so flapped he almost blows his mission.

8-9 (Channels 11-9) — The only series in television to openly celebrate its first year success is Here Come the Brides. Clancy's ship arrives with Candy's (Bridget Hanley) young brother and sister and it looks like they're here to stay. The question: what happens to her romance with Jeremy (Bob Sherman)? Robert Brown, David Soul and Joan Blondell are the other regulars.

7-7:30 (Channels 2-7) — The Good Guys gets its second season premiere tonight and nothing's changed, although the boys are trying. They want to change locations and a beachfront locale seems ideal. Bert wants to surprise his wife with their plan, so he takes her out, leaving Rufus in charge of the moving, which proves to be a major mistake.

7-30-8 (Channel 2-7) — Hogan's Heroes returns to the CBS schedule with exactly the same appearance it has always had. Hogan is trying to figure a way to pull off a near impossible mission when Schultz and Klink show up with a prize prisoner, an actor. They want him to star in a propaganda film. Hogan quickly gets into the act as the film's director.

Rogers, Gromyko Set For Another Meeting

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The Middle East is up for Big Two discussion tonight at a private dinner meeting between Secretary of State William P. Rogers and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko.

Gromyko will be host for the session at the headquarters of the Soviet mission to the United Nations. Rogers had Gromyko to dinner Monday night.

The meeting tonight is the final conference scheduled between the two men during their attendance at the U.N. General Assembly, and U.S. officials

Dead Vietnam Spy Called Triple Agent

GARDEN CITY, N.Y. (AP) — The dead spy in the Green Berets murder case in Vietnam was more than a double agent. Newsday columnist Flora Lewis says—he was a triple agent owing allegiance to South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu.

In a copyright story in Thursday's editions, she said she learned the new information in

Husband Has No Right to Wife's Car, Judge Says

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP) — If a man takes his wife's car, is it theft? A judge said, "Yes." Chancellor Ray Brock Jr. ruled in favor of Mary Lewis Hood, who filed suit against an insurance company to recover the loss of an automobile she said was taken in 1967 by her husband. She said she has not seen or heard from him since. They now are divorced.

The suit stated the car was the sole property of Mrs. Hood and that she was named in its insurance policy.

Judge Brock ruled, "As a member of her household, her husband had general permission to use the automobile but he did not have any permission to appropriate the same to his own use permanently."

Brock ordered the insurance company to pay Mrs. Hood $1,529 plus interest from October 1968 when the suit was filed.

'Priceless' Collection Given to N.Y. Museum

NEW YORK (AP) — The famous Robert Lehman art collection, which experts say might have brought $100 million if sold, has been given to the Metropolitan Museum of Art.

It includes approximately 3,000 objects, among them paintings by Rembrandt, Botticelli, El Greco, Goya, Van Gogh, Renoir, Gauguin, Matisse and Picasso.

Other works, covering the 12th through the 20th century, are Western European bronzes, tapestries, jewelry, furniture and ceramics.

Thomas P. F. Hoving, director of the museum, described the collection as priceless and said it was "practically without parallel in the history of private collecting."

The collection was assembled

Museum Official Killed in Crash

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The director of the Milwaukee Public Museum was killed in an accident on a Milwaukee County freeway early today.

Stephen F. de Borhegyi, 47, was pronounced dead on arrival at Milwaukee County Emergency Hospital, shortly after 5:30 a.m. today following an accident on the North - South Freeway.

Authorities said his car, rounding a curve, jumped a curb, traveled up a steep incline and crashed into the concrete foundation under the overpass.

De Borhegyi, director of the Milwaukee Public Museum since 1958, was a native of Hungary and a lieutenant of the 12th Royal Mounted Artillery of Hungary during World War II. He received his doctorate degree from the Peter Pazmany University in Budapest in 1946.

Areas of Agreement

The U.S. strategy is to stake out areas of agreement with the Soviets, put new life into the Big Four efforts toward a settlement, and induce Arab-Israeli negotiation through U.N. mediator Gunnar Jarring.

Among lesser items, Rogers was prepared to talk with Gromyko about maritime trade. The Soviets want their commercial vessels to be able to call at Eastern U.S. ports as they have done on the West Coast. U.S. officials said the government doesn't bar Soviet ships from East Coast ports, but the unions have prevented their docking.

Vietnam has not figured in the Rogers-Gromyko talks to date. But Belgium, a U.S. ally, urged the United Nations on Thursday to underwrite peace in Southeast Asia by a joint renunciation of force.

Foreign Minister Pierre Harmel expressed regret that Nixon and Gromyko had failed to find common ground on Vietnam in their speeches to the assembly. He said any treaty ending the Vietnam war should be supported by a regional security pact to which the world powers would subscribe.

Harmel said Red China should be among these powers and should have seats both in the Security Council and in the General Assembly. But Peking's admission should not be at the cost of expelling Nationalist China, he said.

Explosion Ruins Doors at Armory

MADISON (AP) — An explosion early today blew out steel doors leading to the drill area of the National Guard Armory in Madison.

Donald Erickson, chief warrant officer for the Guard unit, said damage was estimated at $25,000.

Police said they had not immediately determined the type of explosive.

No one was injured. A janitor working in the basement was the building's only occupant. A portion of a brick wall near the entry was damaged.

Convention Disorders

Chicago 'Riot' Trial Starts

CHICAGO (AP) — Attorneys present their opening arguments today in the trial of eight men charged with conspiracy to incite riots during the 1968 Democratic National Convention.

A jury of two men and 10 women was seated Thursday. Two of the women jurors are Negroes. Most of those chosen are housewives. Four women alternates jurors also were agreed to by the prosecution and defense.

The defendants are charged with conspiracy to violate the anti-riot provisions of the Civil Rights Act by:

—Traveling across state lines with the intention of inciting a riot.

—Teaching the use of incendiary devices with the intention they be employed in a riot.

—Obstructing firemen and law enforcement officials in the performance of their duties during a riot.

Clash With Police
Hippie supporters of the defendants who clashed with police Wednesday at the opening of the trial refrained from further confrontations on its second day.

Defendants are Bobby G. Seale, 32, of Oakland, Calif., chairman of the Black Panther party; Jerry C. Rubin, 31, and Abbie Hoffman, 31, both of New York and leaders of the Youth International party—Yippies; David T. Dellinger, 53, New York, editor of Liberation magazine; Rennie Davis, 29, Chicago, an antiwar organizer; John R. Froines, 30, Eugene, Ore., a University of Oregon chemistry professor; Thomas E. Hayden, 30, a founder of the Students for a Democratic Society; and Lee Weiner, 29, of Chicago, a Northwestern University research assistant in sociology.

In the selection of jurors, defense attorneys exercised 10 of their permissible 17 peremptory challenges. U.S. Atty. Thomas A. Foran and his assistant, Richard G. Schultz, challenged only two veniremen.

William M. Kunstler of New York, one of the defense lawyers, argued that one of the women in the venire, Judith A. Sage, daughter of a policeman, should be dismissed for cause.

When U.S. Dist. Court Judge Julius J. Hoffman denied the ruling, the defense exercised a peremptory challenge.

Kunstler also objected that Hoffman, in reading the indictment to the jurors, had sounded like "Orson Wells reading the Declaration of Independence."

"I've never been so complimented as to be compared with a great actor such as Orson Wells . . . and I overrule the objection," the judge replied.

Search Widens for Robbers Who Killed 4

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — The search for two of three men charged with murdering four women in a savings and loan office robbery extended through Kentucky today.

Police said Waterson Johnson, 22, and John Leigh, 20, spent Wednesday night at a motel in Whitley City, Ky., about 200 miles south of Cincinnati.

They also were spotted Thursday morning in Pine Knot, Ky., six miles from Whitley City, police reported.

Authorities filed four counts of first-degree murder against Johnson, Leigh and Raymond Kassow, 24, who was jailed here. All are from Cincinnati.

They were accused of shooting four women at the Cabinet-Supreme Savings and Loan office Wednesday during a holdup which netted $275.

Kassow, arrested late Wednesday, was charged earlier Thursday with receiving stolen goods in connection with the case. The nature of the goods was not specified. Victims in the shooting were Helen Huebner, 46, Henrietta Stitzel, 59 and her sister-in-law, Luella Stitzel, 61, all patrons of the loan office, and Lillian DeWald, a secretary for the firm.

Kassow lived on the same street as the Stitzels.

Police theorized that the women might have been shot because they recognized the hold-up men, who fled in a car.

Dean Burch, former Republican national chairman, has been named by President Nixon to be chairman of the Federal Communications Commission. Burch said Thursday he is not an avid television viewer and has a low opinion of much programming for children. (AP Wirephoto)

Bolivian Generals Take Over Country

LA PAZ, Bolivia (AP) — Military leaders took over another government in Latin America today. A movement headed by Gen. Alfredo Ovando Candia, commander in chief of the armed forces, overthrew the civilian government of President Luis Siles Salinas.

Bolivia thus joined Argentina, Paraguay, Brazil and Peru among South American governments under military rule. Elsewhere in the hemisphere, Panama, El Salvador, Honduras and Nicaragua are under direct or indirect military control.

The coup took place while Siles Salinas was out of La Paz.

A communique issued by the commanders of the three armed forces of Bolivia said they took action "to avoid the danger of anarchy, capitulation and disorder."

They said the country was calm but suspended all activities in the nation and urged people to stay in their homes.

Siles, 44, was elevated to the presidency last April when President Rene Barrientos was killed in a helicopter crash.

Siles was known as a strict constitutionalist and, as vice president, headed the convention which wrote Bolivia's current constitution, the 16th in the nation's history.

His father, Hernando, and half brother, Hernan Siles Zuazo, both were presidents of Bolivia. Hernando died in exile in Peru, and Hernan is in exile in Argentina.

No Shots Fired
Today's junta communique said the takeover was accomplished without a shot being fired while the president was visiting the city of Santa Cruz, which was celebrating a civic anniversary.

A civilian military cabinet was formed which showed a predominance of Christian Democrat and leftist influence.

Persons identified as being in the political opposition, and the mayor of La Paz, Gen. Armando Escobar Uria, were arrested.

The new government declared it would maintain a policy removed from extremes of left or right and seek to establish a government reconciling private and state interests.

Bolivia's economy is based almost wholly upon tin.

Ovando had been considered Siles' chief rival and a front-runner in the 1970 presidential election.

There has been speculation since the death of the popular Barrientos that the armed forces would oust Siles, a Barrientos rival. Ovando, who helped boost Barrientos to power in a 1964 coup d'etat, had been at the center of political maneuvering in recent months and had the backing of Salvador Vasquez, an influential peasant leader in Cochabamba, Bolivia's second largest city.

When Vasquez declared Ovando "supreme leader of the peasants" last May, the general pledged to "guard the banner of revolution for the miners, the poor, the workers, the peasants and the immense majority of the Bolivian people."

There was speculation at the time that Ovando was stepping forward early to prevent two or three other military officers from announcing their own candidacies for the presidency.

Stock Market Has New Kind Of Investors

Big Institutions Participate More Than Individuals

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Disclosure that in all likelihood more than one-half the value of all orders on the New York Stock Exchange are by professionals such as banks and funds under scores the startling change under way in the market place.

It also pierces a popular delusion that ordinary Americans are far more active than before in the affairs of large manufacturing corporations through direct ownership of stock.

There are now more than 26 million stockholders, a five-fold increase in the past two decades. But more and more of these shareholders are participating indirectly, by buying shares in mutual funds.

Dr. William Freund, vice president and economist of the NYSE, disclosed figures showing close to 56 per cent of the value of all orders for the first quarter of 1969 was by institutions.

Institutionalization

Such a large percentage means that the "random" market place, made up of millions of individual investors, is fast becoming a market of billion-dollar behemoths who trade among themselves. The market is being institutionalized.

The trend is clear. A 1960 survey showed institutions accounted for only 24.3 per cent of the value of NYSE trades. In March, 1965 this had risen to 31.4, and in October of the following year to 32.5 per cent.

The figures used by Freund show a tremendous jump during the past three years, one of the big reasons being that individuals continue to withdraw from direct participation in the market and give their money to professional managers instead.

Perhaps fastest growing of these institutions are the mutual fund. In 1940 there was less than $500 million invested in mutual funds which reinvest the money in common stocks of manufacturing and service companies.

Ownership of fund shares does not entitle a holder to participate in the affairs of the companies in which the money is reinvested, nor does it entitle him to attend annual meetings. Any attempt at exerting influence must be made through the fund.

The latest estimate by the Investment Company Institute, trade group of the mutual funds, shows they now have total assets of $49.1 billion—and are growing. Should the market rise out of the doldrums, that figure would move sharply higher.

Although growing swiftly, the funds are far from being the most powerful institution in the market place. In the first three months of the year they accounted for 15 per cent of the value of all orders. But activity of commercial banks and trusts made up 23.9 per cent of the total value.

The percentages for other professionals were: investment partnerships 2.5 per cent, pension funds 2.5 per cent, other insurance companies 1 per cent, other insurers 1.3 per cent, nonbank trust and estates 2 per cent and "others" 7.9.

Individuals, investing and trading directly, accounted for only 40.9 per cent of the value of all orders.

The implications involve not just small investors, who increasingly find themselves matching wits with professional, but for all stock exchanges as well, for they have the responsibility of maintaining fair and orderly markets.

It has been argued that institutional activity can cause sharp rises and falls in the prices of stocks. Managers of these institution maintain, however, that more often than not, they help stabilize sharply fluctuating markets.

Testimony Cites Industry Efforts Against Pollution

MADISON — The Wisconsin paper industry is maintaining a strong research program in an effort to find even better cures for water pollution.

This was revealed Thursday in a study of figures compiled by the Division of Environmental Protection of the Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources.

The figures show that of $89,349,310 expended for steam improvement by the state's pulp and paper mills over the last 40 years, a total of $14,547,960 has gone to support research.

As a result, a number of new water treatment processes have been developed, some of commercial value. Present byproducts include roadbinder, dispersing and emulsifying agents in industry, turpentine, tall oil from soap skimmings, salt cake from fluidized bed recovery furnaces as well as the food supplements, vanillin and Torula yeast.

The new state figures show Wisconsin paper installations expended $19,909,847 to alleviate stream pollution in the last three years. Of this amount, $3,971,480 went for research and the rest to install, replace or operate anti-pollution equipment.

Police Adopt American Flag As Arm Patch

KAUKAUNA — Effective Oct. 1 members of the police department will begin to wear, as part of their regular police uniform, the national flag of the United States, according to Police Chief William Nagel.

"The police officer today stands for law and order in this community. He is the symbol of freedom, justice and protection for the law abiding. It is therefore very appropriate for us to wear and display our nation's flag as part of our uniform to remind our citizens of the role we play in the defense of their homes and life," Chief Nagel said.

The 400 flag emblems to be worn as shoulder patches on shirts, blouses and jackets were made available to the police by the local Veterans of Foreign Wars post who financed the project.

Mrs. Lochschmidt said.

COG to Study Need For Kaukauna Park

KAUKAUNA — Jerry Starling, a Fox Valley Council of Governments staff member has agreed to make a study of the area north of Hyland Avenue to determine whether a suitable site is available for development of a park and playground area. Starling will report to the planning commission which recommended the study after receiving a request from the health and recreation committee of the common council indicating a need for a park in this area.

Your Money's Worth

Stock's Past Is No Clue to Its Future

BY SYLVIA PORTER

Q. What great company has turned in the worst performance of all the stocks in the Dow-Jones average so far in 1969?

A. The stock which ranked next to the top in 1968: Anaconda.

Repeatedly, I have emphasized how wrong is the unsophisticated amateur's belief that past performance is a reliable guide to future performance. Now comes James L. Phillips of the Boston Investment firm of Vance, Sanders & Co. with the comment that "Past performance is ONE OF THE LEAST RELIABLE guides to the future."

The following table, prepared for me by Phillips, will dramatize this more than any words could and also underline these points:

(1) Diversification is essential. Anaconda is at the bottom this year because of Chile's move to take over its copper mines — the sort of sudden bad news that no one ever can predict in advance. Since this sort of misfortune can happen to any company, the sensible thing to do is to diversify.

(2) Careful selection is equally vital. Note that while Anaconda is down 55 per cent, Woolworth is up 14 per cent and Sears, Roebuck is up 10 per cent.

(3) Short-term rankings bear no relation to the long-term potentials for gain. Telephone hit a high of 75 in 1964, is hovering in the 50 range now. Kodak hit a high of 36% five years ago, is now near 80. You'll miss badly if you become obsessed with a short-term performance in the recent past. The following list, incidentally, covers mature companies whose operations are closely

Porter tied to the American economy — so these price fluctuations do help answer the question "how's business?"

Now here are the rankings, a fascinating tale indeed.

Neenah Man Gets $100 Fine for Speeding at Night

Lawrence B. Bravinck, 24, 210 Bond St., Neenah, who was arrested by Grand Chute police early May 26, was fined $100 and costs or 25 days in jail Thursday after he changed his plea to no contest and was found guilty of speeding 95 miles per hour at night.

Bravinck was to have had a trial Thursday in Outagamie County Court Branch 2.

The district attorney's office moved to dismiss a charge of attempting to elude police.

The court was told police started pursuing Bravinck's car at U.S. 41 and U.S. 10 at 3 a.m. May 26. Bravinck traveled south on U.S. 41 to Winnebago County Trunk GG where he stopped when the right front tire on his car started losing air.

Horrendous 8
Doesn't Stop
Sikes in 'Alcan'Dan Tied for Lead
After Recovering
With Eagle, Birdie

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — What would you do if you shot an 8, four over par, while leading the first round of the Alcan Golfer of the Year Tournament?

Dan Sikes, the golfing lawyer from Jacksonville, Fla., recovered with an eagle and a birdie, tying for first with a three-under-par 69 over the 6,541-yard Portland Golf Club course. Lou Graham of Nashville, Tenn., also had a 69.

Sikes' quick recovery was in contrast to an 8 which Sam Snead, one of golf's all time greats, took on the 18th hole of the U.S. Open in 1939. Snead never did win a U.S. Open.

Sikes was four under par and far ahead of the 24-man field when he hit his tee shot on the 13th hole into a fir tree.

"It is frightening to see a ball go into a tree," Sikes said. "But the second shot was the bad one. It shouldn't have happened."

The ball went beneath a tree. Sikes chipped out, then put the ball into the trap. He two-putted for the 8.

Sikes had a par on the next hole, then on the 511-yard, par 5 15th hole. Sikes sank a 15-foot putt for an eagle. He birdied the 16th hole.

Bleachers Collapse
Sikes got another shock just after he walked off the course when a section of bleachers near the 18th green collapsed. Nine persons were hospitalized with minor injuries.

Graham, having what he says is one of his worst years on the pro tour, described his play as "fair" and said he was surprised there were no lower scores.

Fourteen golfers matched par or better and there was general agreement that scores will be lower if it doesn't rain.

Gay Brewer, winner of the two previous Alcan tournaments played in Great Britain, was two strokes back at 71 and said he was pleased with his position after the first day.

Six players tied for second place with 70s. They are Billy Casper, Lee Trevino, Bert Greene, Deane Beman, Grier Jones and Kel Nagel, the veteran Australian.

Globe's Oil Riches Always in Politics

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

New ingredients have been added to the murky mixture of oil and global politics.

The picture of world oil, the fuel that moves economies, always has been bafflingly complicated. Insatiable global demand requires a constant flow of vast seas of it. Any break or threat of break in the flow causes crisis.

Now the picture becomes even more complex because of recent events: a burgeoning Alaska oil boom, the Northwest Passage odyssey, political upheaval in Libya, hostilities in the Middle East, nervousness in the Arabian peninsula. All these developments raise critically important questions.

Alaska's rivers of black gold should begin flowing from the frozen tundra of the North Slope by 1973. What will be the impact? What is the meaning of the tanker Manhattan's smash through formidable ice to demonstrate that a commercial route to Alaska's oil via the Northwest Passage may be possible?

Where will Alaska's oil go? What will be the effect on recurrent Arab East crises? Will the power of Arab oil to threaten Europe's economies be lessened? Will there be less American dependence on Middle East oil? Will oil lose some of its power as an instrument of Arab politics?

Security Question

The importance of oil to any advanced economy can be imagined from the extent of U.S. consumption. In simple terms, to supply the United States today requires about three gallons daily for each man, woman and child in the country. Thus, the status of U.S. reserves is an enormously important national security question.

Alaska's discovery is one of the biggest ever made. Estimates of reserves in the area run as high as 100 billion barrels, as compared with U.S. reserves elsewhere of 40 billion.

Because of oil, recurrent Arab East explosions have caused crisis and near-panic elsewhere from time to time. That was so in the Suez crisis of 1956 and again in June 1967, during the six-day war in which Israel defeated her Arab neighbors.

Arab Socialism

New discoveries have eased the situation. Europe gets 52 per cent of its oil from North Africa and Nigeria, most of the rest from the Persian Gulf area. But Libya, now an important producer, recently underwent a coup whose leaders promised to point that North African nation toward "Arab socialism."

There is skittishness, too, about the Arabian peninsula. King Faisal of Saudi Arabia, a major producer, is having trouble with Pan-Arab elements which follow the lead of Egypt's Gamal Abdel Nasser. Should Faisal be toppled, it might not be long before Kuwait, the neighboring oil sheikhdom, went the same way.

In any case, if Arab-Israeli hostilities develop into yet another full-scale war, Arab rulers will be under severe pressure to shut off all supplies of oil to the West.

Form of Insurance

Thus, oil experts say, Alaska's reserves represent a form of insurance. The United States will be in a safer position to supply Europe on an emergency basis, because the reserves are there—even though Alaskan oil will not be flowing for a few years.

If the Northwest Passage proves profitably usable, this would have great impact. It would bring Europe close to the Alaska source.

Skeptics remain unconvinced, but if the Manhattan's breakthrough should ultimately demonstrate a feasible, safe and short route to the East Coast and European markets, the impact a half dozen years hence—with mammoth new ice-breaking tankers available by then—would be heavy. Europe, then, no longer would be at the mercy of wars and political crises in the Middle East.

To U.S. Markets

Some experts say the extent to which U.S. dependence on foreign oil will be diminished depends upon the status of the quotas which now restrict imports. The argument is that if controls are maintained, Alaskan oil will go to U.S. markets; that if controls are lifted, it is likely to go primarily to foreign markets. The reason for this, they say, is that lifting of the quotas will permit a heavy flood of foreign oil from the Middle East, Venezuela and elsewhere. Experts say that could be lessened to a point where it would be negligible and pose no threat U.S. oil and far cheaper to ship, in time of crisis. Thus, oil produced in the Arab East, for example, would be deprived of considerable leverage.

quotas has been going on 30 years, and came to a head during the Eisenhower administration with a decision that national security would be endangered by a liberal policy on imports.

The argument on the other side is that limiting imports keeps cheap foreign oil off the U.S. market and thus costs U.S. consumers heavily, and also that it depletes American reserves.

A presidential task force now is reviewing the whole question of quotas, but the argument that the domestic industry must be kept prosperous because of national security make it doubtful that there will be a drastic break with present practice.

Currently, about 21 per cent of U.S. consumption is foreign oil. Experts say that could be lessened to a point where it would be negligible and pose no threat U.S. oil and far cheaper to ship, in time of crisis. Thus, oil produced in the Arab East, for example, would be deprived of considerable leverage.

Lifting Child by Arms Can Injure Shoulders

By George C. Thosteson, M.D.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am very concerned about my 10-month-old granddaughter. Her teen-age parents keep lifting her up by the arms.

I have protested and begged them not to, for fear of injuring her shoulders and arms, but they continue doing it. Please

Have you read my booklet, "Hiatal Hernia and Eight Ways to Combat It"? It's yours if you send 25 cents in coin and a long self-addressed, stamped envelope to Dr. Thosteson, care of The Post-Crescent.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My daughter is taking biology in high school and one topic was human reproduction. In the course of conversation I said I thought it was possible for a woman to have twins, the twins with two different fathers.

I would like to know if this is possible, as she disagrees with me. — W. W. M.

Yes, this is possible. I am familiar with one report which was unmistakable because the twins were of different races. Uncommon, of course, but not impossible.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Would appreciate information on the value of removal of one or more parathyroid glands to prevent continued formation of calcium oxalate kidney stones. — B. S.

Removal should be done only if there is laboratory evidence that the glands are overactive or have developed a tumor. Tests involve studies of both blood and urine to show whether a calcium disturbance exists — formation of the stones is part of this.

The point is that calcium oxalate stones can occur even though the parathyroid glands are functioning normally, and in such a case removal of the glands has no effect on stone formation.

Dear Dr. Thosteson I have been told by quite a few friends that vaginal foam is as safe as birth control pills. Is this true? — Mrs. W. T.

Nearly so. Foams, properly used, are very good, but the pills are somewhat more effective.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Is it all right to drink beer in moderate amount if one has gout, or should you stay away from it entirely? — S. E. B.

Alcohol may raise the uric acid level in the system and thus precipitate an attack of gout. This is pretty much an individual matter. Beer may bother one patient, whisky or other beverage bother another.

If it does not bother you, beer would be permissible in moderation. In moderation! You said it first; I repeat it.

Dr. Thosteson welcomes all reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

tell me if I am what they think I am, a neurotic grandmother.

No, you're not a neurotic G.M. I receive enough questions more or less like this to make it well worth answering.

Babies and heavier small children should not be lifted or swung by either one arm or two. The shoulder joints are still unstable and can be damaged. In particular, nerve injuries can result and turn into a lifelong handicap or nuisance, even though the youngster, as he grows up, may never have any recollection of how the original injury occurred.

I'm sure the parents mean well, but they don't realize that their playfulness can harm the baby.

As for impatient parents who yank toddlers, barely old enough to walk, along by one arm — well, I sometimes feel like trying to shake some sense into such folks' heads, but I know it wouldn't work.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Could you please tell me how to live with a hiatal hernia? Many times, for seemingly no reason at all, I have a great deal of pain and distress — Mrs. R. N.

Sheriff Appeals Jail Sentence

WORCESTER, Mass. (AP) — Worcester County Sheriff Joseph A. Smith is appealing a two-month sentence to his own jail.

He was sentenced and fined $35 Thursday by District Court Judge Walter D. Allen on charges that he left the scene of an Aug. 5 highway accident in suburban Rutland.

Smith testified that he left to drive a short distance to his home, where he unsuccessfully tried to reach Rutland Police Chief John Collins. Two persons injured in the accident were released after hospital treatment.

Judge Allen released Smith in his personal recognizance after the sheriff's lawyer appealed the case to Superior Court.

Stanton has been a 4-H member six years and has participated in tractor projects four years. He has been a Walworth County tractor contest winner three different years. Last year he was also runner-up at the state contest.

Potential Flood Areas of the Wolf River flood plain are outlined in a Corp of Engineers study. The report was conducted to analyze flood hazards and develop flood plain regulations. The highest flood recorded occurred in 1888 when waters reached 11.6 feet in New London. In 1922 the flood stage hit 11.5 feet and in 1952 and 1960 climbed to 10.5 feet.

Wolf River Floods Present Annual Hazard for Farmers

BY ROGER PITT

Post-Crescent New London Bureau

NEW LONDON — Farmlands along the Wolf River are inundated on the average of twice a year.

Only twice, approximately 1931 and 1958, has the Wolf failed to overflow its banks substantially and cover much of the rich cash crop land in the Shiocton area.

These floods are called intermediate regional floods in a recent study by the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers on the Wolf River extending from Lake Poygan to Shawano. Their frequency, according to terminology, is to be once in every 100 years. Wolf waters have poured from its banks on the average of twice yearly.

Unrecorded Floods

Not recorded in history is what is termed a "standard project" flood. This flood is to be far more severe than the intermediate flood.

Exemptions Limited Under General 4 Per Cent Levy

BY DAVID WEITZ

Post-Crescent Farm Editor

Many farmers are facing tax tangles resulting from recent enactment of the general 4 per cent sales tax.

Although some parts of the law still are uninterpreted, the tax bite will take an increased amount from farmers' profits, said Brad Wood, department of revenue central compliance division, supervisor of registration.

"There's going to be a lot of items taxable for farmers that weren't before," noted Wood, saying farm machines will be the largest tax exempt category.

Farmer Unusual

"The farmer's unusual because he is both a consumer and a businessman," said Alden Hayes, sales tax researcher. Hayes said the law will tax farmers for things previously exempt to him as a consumer — but also will provide him with exemptions not permitted to other businessmen.

University of Wisconsin (UW) farm management statistics show that the average dairy farmer had $15,130 in operating expenses during 1968, said John Schmidt, UW agricultural economist.

Farm Bureau Will Honor Youth, Girl

GREENVILLE — Outagamie County Farm Bureau members will honor winners of outstanding youth and girl contests, Oct. 9 at the American Legion Hall in Shiocton.

The winners, from 17 to 20 years old, will be selected from Hortonville, Shiocton, Kaukauna, Freedom, Seymour and New London high schools. Home economics and agricultural department teachers will assist in selecting winners.

Contestants for the award must send a letter of achievement and specialties in their participation in organizations to the Outagamie Farm Bureau Service Center, Black Creek.

Winners will also be honored Nov. 15 and 16 at the annual Farm Bureau Young Farmers meeting at Lake Delton.

Most feed will be exempt from new tax laws, according to Percy Werner, sales tax specialist. Werner said part of feed containing medicines may be taxable. The average farmer spent $4,262 for purchased feed in 1968.

Repair Costs

The average dairy farmer paid $1,096 for machinery repair and small tools, according to Schmidt. Under new tax laws repair of most farm machines is exempt, although repair parts for trucks are taxable. Hand tools also are taxable, said Werner.

Sales tax on diesel fuel is "a sore point," said Werner. He said LP gas, fuel oil, motor oil, and bulk purchases of diesel fuel are taxable.

Gas and oil costs per farmer averaged $845 during 1968.

Farmers also will find boosted electric and telephone bills, noted Werner. Before the general tax went into effect electric bills were exempt. A 3 per cent sales tax previously was charged on telephone bills. Normal cost per farmer for electricity and telephone service was $524 in 1968.

Livestock Expense

Although tax officials have not yet issued final rulings, sale of semen used in artificial insemination may be taxable, noted Werner. Cost of semen is a large portion of general livestock expense, which averaged $1,078 per farmer in 1968, said Schmidt.

A 4 per cent charge also will be levied against building and fencing repair costs. Such expenses totaled $325 per farmer in 1968.

"The big item will be in construction and repairs," said Hayes, explaining that most materials for silos, storage units, and barns are taxable. In some cases, farmers must also pay tax on machines bought for use in contracting custom work, said Warner.

Appleton Youth Joins Holstein Association

An Appleton youth, Mark Wichman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Wichmann, Rt. 3, has become a junior member of the Holstein-Friesian Association of America. More than 13,850 youngsters now are actively enrolled in the program.

Okay Sought Watershed Plans To be Revealed at Brillion Meeting

BRILLION — Ways to check for flood control projects in annual flooding will be outlined here at 8 p.m. Monday at the city hall. Karl Otte, state soil conservation service river basin watershed leader, will present the findings of a preliminary soil and water conservation report tailored to halt annual floodwaters.

The report is the final step in state planning before federal Public Law 566 funds are requested for final planning of the watershed.

Otte said the analysis will present alternative ways to solve flooding problems.

"Indications are that the problems can be solved by installing water control works of various types such as channels and dams," he said.

The preliminary problem is flooding which occurs in Brillion, he said. Although flooding has posed serious agricultural problems, major damage has occurred to industry located in the town.

Damage from rising water of Spring Creek causes an average of $20,000 damage each year in the watershed, said Otte.

Proposals which Otte will present will call for drainage systems planned to protect Brillion against the largest flood which will occur in 100 years. Such works are required for flood control projects in urban areas.

A chain of five lakes in Manitowoc County also will be linked with the watershed. Residents on Long Lake requested assistance because the north branch of the Manitowoc River which serves as an outlet for the lake is clogged causing danger of flooding to cottages.

The preliminary report was requested jointly by Manitowoc and Calumet County Soil and Water Conservation District Committees.

Work on the analysis was started in June by field investigators for the state soil conservation service, said Otte.

The work staff has combined analysis of engineers, geologists, economists, hydrologists, field survey engineers, and specialists from the university extension offices and the department of natural resources.

Otte said work would cost an estimated $250,000, according to an original feasibility study.

The preliminary study must be approved by residents of the watershed, however, before federal Public Law 566 funds can be requested and final planning started.

Otte said final planning will entail surveys of sites for construction of water control structures and include taking expensive soil samples.

Watershed sponsors can decide the fate of the watershed at the meeting Monday or postpone the decision, said Otte.

He said the sponsors have agreed to map sites for water control structures using Kelsh plotting aerial topographic surveys after sites have been selected.

The Kelsh plotting is a three-step process utilizing low-level aerial photography, coordinated with control lines established by survey crews, to determine elevation of sites. The Kelsh-plotted maps show differences in elevation of less than one foot, said Otte. He said maps will be used to establish what area will be affected by creation of water control structures.

Mallard 'Adopts' Beer Barrel Nest

BY ALICE CONNORS

Post-Crescent Correspondent
CHILTON — Wildlife often finds a cozy, warm, protected place to hatch young but seldom as uniquely as a wild mallard duck who wandered from a pond recently to become a temporary guest on the Peter C. Woelfel farm in the Town of Charlestown.

Some of Woelfels' grand children were playing about the farm buildings and summoned Woelfel to one of the buildings with excited screams.

Upon entering his barn Woelfel found a wild mallard sitting calmly on a nest which she had made neatly inside an antique wooden beer barrel.

Hens Work For Pennies In Wisconsin

August Egg Prices
Decline Three Cents
From July Levels

The hens in Wisconsin farm flocks each worked for about 3 cents a day during August, according to the Wisconsin Statistical Reporting Service.

The Wisconsin farm price of eggs in August averaged 35 cents a dozen, declining from July this year compared with the usual seasonal increase. According to the Statistical Reporting Service, August egg prices to farmers were 3 cents a dozen below July, but 3 cents more than August last year.

Farmers are receiving higher prices for poultry and eggs than they did last year, following the general upswing in meat animal prices. Poultry and egg prices, however, went up only 10 per cent in August over last year, compared with 22 per cent for meat animals.

Turkey prices during August averaged 22 cents a pound, one cent higher than last year.

Mallard Nests

Her nest was of soft fiber, said Woelfel. The fiber may have been her own down.

He started watching the nest and soon found ten little ducklings chirping about around Mother Mallard.

Woelfel worried, and watched, to discover how the hen would get her young out of the steep-sided barrel. Mother Mallard, however, refused to move her young with an audience.

Ducklings Hatch

The next day, as Woelfel finished his chores, he peeked in the nest to find the mallard had placed 10 of the 13 ducklings in a neat circle on the floor. When she heard Woelfel approach she gave a "cluck," and the ducklings filed to her side.

When Woelfel went out later in the day six ducklings were wandering about the farm yard and the next day all mallards had disappeared; probably to a pond about 330 yards from the farm buildings, said Woelfel.

11 Valley Students Register For UW Farm Short Course

MADISON — Eleven Fox Valley students are among 106 who have registered for the Farm and Industry Short Course at the University of Wisconsin, according to Maurice E. White, assistant dean and director of short courses.

Courses Start

Courses will start Nov. 10 and end March 7, 1970.

White said registrations will be accepted until courses start but noted that applications should be made early so dormitory rooms can be reserved.

Nearly $20,000 in short course scholarships were awarded to students last year, said White.

Deadline for applying for scholarships was Sept. 1.

Nearly half the students attending the courses have received financial aid in recent years, he said.

Students from the Fox River Valley who have enrolled are Garry Preder, route 1, New Holstein; Ronald Woelfel, route 1, New Holstein; John Schwobe, route 2, New Holstein; Robert Grunwald, route 1, Fremont; Gerald Golke, route 1, Waupaca; Bruce Westphal, Readfield; Arne Poehlman, route 3, New London; Daniel Hintz, route 2, Marion; John Gruszynske, route 1, Omro; Lewis Eckstein, route 1, Larsen, and Benjamin Karau, 42 W. Blackwolf Pt. Ave., Oshkosh.

Holstein at Oshkosh Reaches 18,368 Pound DHIR Production Level

OSHKOSH — A four-year old Holstein owned by John H. Bartlett, 4576 Jackson Rd., has produced 18,368 pounds of milk and 765 pounds of butterfat in 365 days, according to Dairy Herd Improvement Registry (DHIR) rules.

The DHIR program incorporates Dairy Herd Improvement Association (DHIA) records of registered Holstein cows into the national association's breed improvement program.

DHIR has an enrollment of more than 128,950 registered Holstein cows in nearly 2,600 herds.

The new record compares to the average U.S. cow's output of 8,821 pounds of milk.

Conservation Tour 2,850 Pupils Will Attend Outagamie Field Days

An estimated 2,850 youngsters will be guided through the eight-part tour during each morning and afternoon. Each tour takes about two hours, he said.

Luckow said 13,475 youngsters have visited the farm since the program was initiated in 1961. The university extension office and soil conservation service co-sponsored the first tours as a two-day program at the request of teachers from throughout the county.

The farm, which exceeds 700 acres, contains three lakes, one of which is being repaired. Grass waterways, strip cropping, contour farming, reforestation, crop rotation and water diversionary measures are practiced on the farm.

Appleton Pupils

Luckow said Appleton schools have increased the number of pupils attending the sessions by from 150 to 175 pupils more than in 1968.

He said planning started for the series two weeks ago when information first was sent to schools. Final work at the farm will be completed Monday morning before the first group of students arrives, he said.

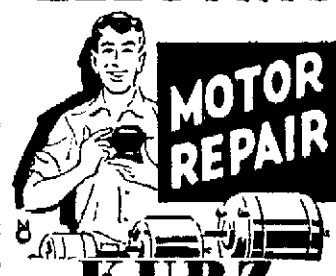

A staff of 17 technicians and specialists will work in the project.

The youngsters participating in the tour will visit eight stations which will outline a soil profile, game habitat and pond construction, a tree plantation, life within a pond, woodlot management, wood border and ecology, established conservation practices and farm plans.

He said approximately 300 to Gary Blomberg and William Shaw; Soil Conservation Service, Vern Geiger, district soil conservationist and Richard Gade, conservation technician; Department of Natural Resources, Jack Kunath, Dale Morey and Albert VanderBloemen, conservation wardens; Dennis Hohfelder, forester, and Dennis Reinert, forestry aide; Farmers Home Administration, George Berger, Clive Eddinger and Robert Gregurich; Vocational Technical and Adult Education District 12 representatives, Ivan Gruetzmacher, Oliver Lerum, and Leonard Warner and Audubon Society, Mrs. L. # Insects, Disease, can Cause Trees to Shed Leaves Early

BY V. W. PEROUTKY
Agricultural Agent
Winnebago County

OSHKOSH — Leaves of several shade tree varieties are changing color, as leaves become mature. Yellowing of leaves in American elm at this season is normal. It is generally too late now for Dutch elm disease to show symptoms.

Leaves may fall earlier than normal because of many insect galls and other pests on leaves this year. Diseases in the area include Leaf Spot on elm along Jefferson Street, Oshkosh; Flake Galls on nearly all oak leaves; Leaf Scorch on older, overcrowded, Norway Maple in the Spring Brook area, Omro; and Leaf Scorch on maple where the soil underneath was compacted with heavy soil-moving equipment in rural Neenah.

Simazine is an excellent herbicide for shallow-rooted perennial grass and annual type weed control. The rate of application is important, one-fourth cup in three gallons of water for two hundred square feet. Early November is an ideal time for application. The soil should not be worked after spraying until next spring, nor then either if soil working isn't required for crop planting.

Airborne chemical fumes, accidentally discharged from an industrial plant in Menasha, scorched vegetable and fruit crops in gardens. Most of the affected crops recovered with new growth.

According to University of Wisconsin extension specialists, growth is edible and safe where airborne fumes left no noted residue, and new plant growth developed.

Faults Accompanied by Progress

By JAMES R. POLK
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — In 10 below-zero weather, the sick and old patients huddled close to the single small-bellied stove in a railroad boxcar that had been turned into a nursing home.

The Minnesota inspector remembers that shock vividly, even though it was 10 years ago. It is a measure of how far nursing homes have come today.

"The day of the old urine-soaked outhouse is gone forever," said Edward Walker, president of the American Nursing Home Association who owns three Oklahoma homes.

Nearly half of all nursing home facilities have been built in the last five years. Private rooms are replacing crowded wards. Fire, once the greatest fear, is fading into the past. And medical care is improving.

"With all of our faults today, we've made tremendous progress," said Walker.

Federal Doorstep
Both the faults and the progress come to rest on the federal doorstep.

The $1.6 billion annual flood in federal money that has made the government the greatest sole supporter of the nation's nursing homes has brought care to thousands of old persons and being made today in recreation and physical rehabilitation at many nursing homes. (AP Wirephoto) has triggered the explosive building boom in new facilities.

But critics question whether payments have been put ahead of patients.

Medicaid, the vast federal program of health care for the poor, and medicare, the federal insurance plan for the elderly, have paid for the bulk of nursing homes' spectacular spurt in growth.

Taxpayer support for nursing homes has tripled in the past three years. Nursing home revenue has shot up by $1 billion, all from the government.

Prices Skyrocket
More than 50 nursing home chains have burst upon the stock market, where their prices have skyrocketed. Four Seasons, one of the most modern and fastest growing chains, is making profits 9 times as high as it was two years ago. And its stock is up by 11 times.

Extendicare, another major chain, gets 82 per cent of all its money for a large group of Oakland, Calif., area nursing homes from federal programs, according to records on file with the Securities and Exchange Commission.

The Healthcare chain's homes in Massachusetts get 78 per cent of their revenue from the same sources.

The head of medicare operations for the firm that handles New England payments, Travelers Insurance, was serving on the board of directors of another Massachusetts chain, Geri-Care Nursing Centers, until warned by federal officials of what one senator called an open and blatant conflict of interest.

Help From FHA
Medicare not only pays for daily care for limited stays, but also helps bankroll construction by paying depreciation and interest costs, too. Another government agency, the Federal Housing Administration, helps by backing most of the mortgage amounts on private nursing homes.

One doctor in an Ohio suburb has reported more than $140,000 annual profits on the nursing home he owns.

High payments have brought a siege of scandals for medicare and medicare.

Doctors are still rare visitors to nursing homes—and some states, like California and Pennsylvania, don't specify how often they should see patients.

Drugs are prescribed freely over the telephone by absentee physicians. And the mentally ill, often turned away by crowded state hospitals, are mingled among other patients and kept subdued by sedatives or resubmitted to training straps.

Telling the difference between a good nursing home and a bad one can be bewildering for a relative.

Homes Differ
A modern new facility may lack frequent doctor's visits, especially if it is on the outskirts of a city. An older home may be spotless inside with kind nurses and conscientious care.

One home may scrimp on food, and another may be careless with drugs, and still another may have a shortage of nurses. But medicare stands now on the threshold of opportunity for dramatic improvement. From interviews with state and federal officials and nursing home operators emerges this consensus on what can be done:

—Medicare has on paper the requirement of a minimum of one doctor's visit a month. Now it has to enforce it, with the full threat of ending payments to nursing homes that lack the care. And the American Medical Association can help by following the example of the Knox County, Ind., Medical Society which checks to make certain nursing home patients are visited regularly by its member physicians.

—Medicare can write into its future regulations a minimum number of nurses, according to the size of the home, to assure adequate care of patients. It requires only one nurse a shift now, even for a 120-patient home. State laws vary widely, homes in America."

No Prosecution
Action, when it does come, is often taken quietly, without public knowledge. A Minnesota inspector told of an 87-year-old woman who died after being pushed off balance against a bed by an angry nursing aide. Officials used the coroner's photographs, she said, to close the home and force its sale to another firm, but no prosecution was attempted.

Many states' inspection procedures concentrate on obvious violations, like food and fire, and

Usually, You Haven't Really Already Won

BY ARTHUR E. ROWSE

WASHINGTON — Millions of Americans apparently are being fooled by the missing three-letter word in the teaser that says:

"You may have already won one of the following prizes."

In one promotion, they said, advertised prizes totaled $1,150, yet only $8,635 worth of prizes were given away. They cited another promotion featuring 802 prizes worth more than $200,000 but with only six prizes worth less than $1,000 actually awarded. In yet another case, this resulted in a set of trade print will usually disclose only $17,240 out of a promised $225,000 were paid out.

Most of the prizes awarded are apparently in the category of winning anything but a pain in the neck. One of them was a men's lead feather about one-half inch long. Another was a two-inch similar action on sweepstake set of tinsely butterfly wings. In promotions.

Few Prizes
According to two Congressmen who have been investigating the sweepstake craze for a year, only a tiny fraction of the announced prizes are ever awarded, and many of the ones that are awarded are not worth the price of a postage stamp.

In a press conference the other day, the legislators said they had found "many examples of companies advertising, say, 5,000 prizes, yet awarding only 40 or 50."

The Congressmen, Michigan Democrat John D. Dingell and Massachusetts Republican Silvio O. Conte, announced that public hearings will be held in November. Dingell is chairman of a subcommittee on small business, and Conte is the ranking minority member.

Well Known Products
They were careful to name no companies, but they presented dozens of brochures and adver-but most require more than medicare.

Fighter Standards
—Medicare has written in its new regulations a set of tighter standards on drugs and telephone prescriptions by doctors. One section requires a monthly review by doctors of all drugs used by patients. But this, too, will need enforcement at the state level that is not being carried out so far.

—Medicare can add needed policies on mental patients. For example, Minnesota's state regulations define any patient who requires restraining straps to be mentally disturbed and forbid keeping such persons in nursing homes. Unfortunately, this also is enforced spottily even there. And Medicare has no national policy at all.

Walker, the ANHA president, said current medicare and medicare standards already are weeding out the poorer facilities and predicted, "In the next three years you are going to see a dramatic change in nursing homes in America."

most cases where "you have already won," these are the types of prizes you'll get.

Millions of Answers
Yet the suckers are lining up by the millions. One company alone reportedly sent out more than 200 million pieces during six promotions. Many other companies have mailed from 20 million to 30 million. And their average return is about 33 per cent.

What disturbs Dingell and Conte the most, however, is the absence of any supervision over these promotions. Last year, their subcommittee held hearings on games of chance in the food and gasoline industries. This resulted in a set of trade regulation rules which were announced last month by the Federal Trade Commission.

Quite clearly, the Congressmen are hoping that their lead feather about one-half inch long. Another was a two-inch similar action on sweepstake set of tinsely butterfly wings. In promotions.

Procedures Cumbersome

Modernization May Slice Red Tape in FHA Programs

Streamlining, proposed by James V. Smith, newly appointed administrator of the Farmers Home Administration, (FHA), could revamp cumbersome procedures now being used in Outagamie and Winnebago counties, according to George Berger, FHA county supervisor.

"We have about 28 different loan procedures," said Berger, explaining each procedure requires a different fund.

"It wouldn't really matter if it were just one big kettle," he said, explaining that many types of loans could be combined into a simplified program to save time.

Smith has proposed streamlining the FHA workload by eliminating needless paperwork, providing clerical help and using computers for direct billing of some loans.

Berger said there are three types of farm ownership loan, commenting that until six months ago a fourth type existed. There are nine types of housing loans and separate lists of rental housing loans.

The six major types of FHA loans, said Berger, are farm ownership, rural housing, operating loans, economic opportunity loans, soil and water loans to individuals and soil and water loans to associations.

The FHA program today is a conglomerate which was first started in 1934 and called the Rural Rehabilitation Corporation, said Berger.

As demands increased FHA programs were widened, said Berger. As a result one Outagamie County farmer has loans from four categories to cover his needs.

Berger said most programs could be easily revamped. Streamlining would result in time savings and cut paperwork "probably in half", he said.

Most loans could be combined into either real estate, short term or operating categories, noted Berger.

He said, however, that the FHA in Outagamie and Winnebago counties is handicapped not only by cumbersome methods but because of a shortage of money. "We're running about four to five months behind because of a lack of funds," he said.

Smith has proposed that present debt limits of $35 per borrower for farm operating loans and $60,000 for farm ownership loans be "virtually doubled."

During the last fiscal year $1,510,640 was loaned to 370 families in Outagamie and Winnebago counties, said Berger.

Latin America May Boost Agri-Business

MADISON — "Wisconsin agribusiness firms have a favorable trade outlook in Latin American countries," according to Robert F. Thayer, of the Wisconsin Department of Agriculture.

Thayer said Latin American countries are attempting to become self-sufficient and are looking for facilities, food processing equipment and materials to increase production and efficiency of foodstuffs.

He said Latin American countries are a developing market for potential sales in breeding cattle, seeds, feed, fertilizer, machinery and other agribusiness goods.

Yield Matures

Delay in Filling Silos Can Hike Corn Crops

BY JOE L. WALKER

Waupaca County Agricultural Agent

WAUPACA — About 10 to 15 per cent of the silos have been filled throughout the state and the work has been started in the Fox River Valley. During the past few years farmers have waited longer than before on this silo filling job and gained about a bushel of corn per acre per day of delay until all kernels are dented.

If we were to compare the feed value of corn silage based on maturity, we would find that well dented corn silage, at about 35 per cent dry matter, will produce about 90 per cent of the possible feed value the plant can raise. However, if we put this silage in at half dent, we drop to 70 per cent and at one-fifth dent, we drop down to about 50 per cent of the possible feed value of the corn plant.

On the average we lose about 40 per cent of the total feed value when we pick our corn. Naturally, this loss would be greater if we were forced to pick immature corn or poorer quality corn. So, the best place for corn is the silo where the entire corn plant is used. Actually, there have been several large silos built near here during recent years. Len Ebert, Town of Bear Creek and his sons, recently built a 24 x 80 cement stave unit. This unit towers over three other 14 x 50-foot silos and one 12 x 50. The large silo holds about 1,100 tons of corn silage and would be at least a week-long filling job with an old silo filler and six bundle teams.

There has been some ensiling of high moisture corn or ground corn and cob meal in our area. This material is put in at about 28 to 30 per cent moisture and does make pretty good feed.

Kernel and cob moisture can differ greatly with the cob holding quite a bit of water. When kernel moisture is at 28 per cent, the cob moisture is still at about 50 per cent. Thus, the whole ear would be at the 32 to 34 per cent level. When using shelled corn or ground corn silage, at least two inches must be removed per day. This is especially important during warm weather so care must be exercised in selecting the proper size unit. With 28 per cent shelled corn, two pounds in a 12-foot silo provides about 900 pounds, 14 foot handles 1200 pounds, while a 16 foot puts out 1600 and an 18 foot unit puts out about a ton.

For 32 per cent ground ear corn silage, at a two-pound level, a 12-foot silo would handle about 750 pounds, a 14-foot silo, 1,000 pounds, a 16-foot silo 1,300 pounds and an 18-foot silo would hold 1,650 pounds.

Farmers planning to go to shelled corn or ground corn silage, will need, at least, about a 40-cow herd and a good silo to do a good job of keeping high value feed.

Some farmers have gone to drying corn, a good, safe way to handle it, although it is costly to cook the moisture out of our corn. Drying costs one-half to three-fourths of a cent, or more, per point of moisture reduction so, if when faced with storage of higher moisture corn, the possibility of making shelled or ground ear corn silage for the dairy herd this winter is worth serious consideration.

Wolf River Floods Pose Problem

flood plain clearly show that very little additional land area will be covered by water in a standard project flood. Thousands of acres are included in the flood plain, but the land topography rapidly rises at the fringes of the intermediate flood plain. In addition, the amount of water required to raise the water level one foot is great because of the wide area the water covers.

Most of the area covered by flood waters is located in the Shiocton area. Practically all of the land north of Shiocton between State 187 and State 76 is in the intermediate flood plain, as is the land east along State 54, and west toward New London.

Greatest Flood Area

This area is about 8 by 12 miles in size and covers an estimated 100 square miles — by far the greatest single flood area along the Wolf.

Cash cropping is one of the main sources of income in this area. Miles of ditching have enabled reclamation of what once was marsh land.

Cabbage is a prime crop, but great quantities of sweet corn, beans and cucumbers are grown. Land is rich, fertile and heavy.

Nixon Unveils Plan for Social Security Hikes

Cost-of-Living Boosts Would Be Automatic

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has proposed $4.25 billion hikes in Social Security reforms and benefits plus a new, automatic locking of the system to cost-of-living increases.

The President outlined his unexpectedly broad proposals for Social Security change Thursday to a Congress apparently eager to go him one better on liberalization.

Beneficiaries have seen inflation whittle almost 8 per cent from their Social Security checks since the last increase in March 1968. Accordingly, the chief executive asked a catch-up, 10 per cent, across-the-board benefit hike effective for payments in April, 1970.

To meet the cost, President Nixon recommended an increase in the maximum earnings subject to Social Security levies from $7,800 today to $9,000 beginning Jan. 1, 1972.

But he also asked that legislated contributions for both employers and employees be pared between 1971 and 1976.

Instead of a jump from 5.2 per cent to 5.7 per cent over that period, the President wants the range 5.1 per cent to 5.5 per cent. The current rate is 4.8 per cent for both worker and employer through 1970.

Present law calls for maintenance of the $7,800 wage base. Therefore despite the proposal for a levy rollback, a worker making the wage maximum would pay $54 more a year under the President's proposal in 1972—$459 versus $405.

In what will probably be his most controversial reform request, Nixon asked an end to the kind of catch-up, benefit increase he proposed for next year.

"I propose that the Congress make certain once and for all that the retired, disabled and the dependent never again bear the brunt of inflation," he said. "The way to prevent future unfairness is to attach the benefit schedule to the cost of living."

The President wants an automatic escalator provision that increases Social Security benefits by the same percentage as the cost-of-living rise over a year.

Lucey Enters Race

MADISON (AP)—Former Lt. Gov. Patrick J. Lucey today announced his candidacy for governor in 1970 on the Democratic ticket, making him the first of several candidates expected to make up the field.

The Madison real estate broker's statement announcing his plans criticized the Republican dominated state administration.

Lucey cited his business and political experience as qualities he said would enable him to help Wisconsin in "this hour of crisis, conflict and confusion."

Lucey made the announcement at a news conference called at his Maple Bluff home overlooking Lake Mendota.

Patrick J. Lucey

At the conference, he accused the Republicans of leveling a "crushing income tax burden," ignoring the "plight of our urban centers and programs to train the unemployed," and altering aid formulas to "shatter equal educational opportunities."

"That reputation for bold leadership lies in ruins—destroyed by the miserable marriage of a spineless Republican administration and a run-bent on enriching those of away Republican legislature bent on enriching those of great power and wealth while placing intolerable burdens on those last able to afford it," Lucey said.

Lucey said "narrow-minded attitudes" threaten to "tear the fabric of our society—conflicts between rich and poor, black and white, young and

'Flurry of Terror' Expected by U.S. in New Campaign

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. paratroopers found two Viet Cong sapper bases less than 15 miles from Saigon in the past 24 hours, and the commander of the U.S. 2nd Field Force said the enemy "is doing his damndest" to infiltrate the demolition and sabotage experts into the South Vietnamese capital.

Saigon may be in for a "flurry of terror," said Lt. Gen. Julian Ewell. He reported that captured documents indicate the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese will rely heavily on sapper attacks in the winter-spring campaign which the U.S. Command expects to start in November.

Troops of the 82nd Airborne Division's 3rd Brigade found the first sapper camp late Thursday afternoon 12 miles northwest of Saigon. Its store of munitions included 30 pounds of plastic explosive, 550 blasting caps and 30 feet of detonating wire.

Hidden in Grass

The base was hidden in the high elephant grass of a swamp and consisted of about 25 camouflaged huts. It apparently was abandoned just before the Americans, acting on intelligence information, swept into the area. Food found in pots was still warm.

Another patrolling paratrooper unit found the second jungle base this afternoon eight miles west of the capital.

The sappers were caught in their bunkers, and first reports said seven of them were killed. There was no report of U.S. casualties.

The two camps were the closest enemy bases to Saigon found in more than seven months by the 82nd Airborne's 3rd Brigade. It defends the capital's western and northwest flanks but is one of the major units to be withdrawn from Vietnam in the next three months.

Pullouts Disclosed

The U.S. Command belatedly announced today that the second round of U.S. troop withdrawals began five days ago.

The first unit to leave the country under President Nixon's order to withdraw 35,000 more troops by Dec. 15 was the 238th Combat Support Company, an

Fight Harmful Attitudes

Catholics Pushing Harder For Sex Education in U.S.

NEW YORK (AP) — The nation's Roman Catholic bishops have begun a strong push for sex education in both parochial and public schools, despite angry opposition to such teaching from many Catholic laity.

Separate developments in various parts of the country show a deepening conviction among the 280 prelates that harmful sexual attitudes in American life must be fought by positive teaching instead of by just ignoring sex altogether.

Confronting one of the hottest moral issues in the United States this year — The Family Life Division of the U.S. Catholic Conference — USCC — the operational agency of the bishops, endorsed sex education programs at its national meeting in Denver earlier this month, stating that schools must assist families in explaining human life to children.

Two cardinals and a bishop issued a joint statement Tuesday supporting sex education programs in the public schools of Maryland, Delaware, and the District of Columbia.

Bishop Alexander Zaleski of Lansing, Mich., in backing formal instruction on sexuality in his state two weeks ago, criticized "the unwillingness or inability of many parents to fulfill their responsibilities" and said it made public programs outside the home necessary.

Dozens of cities across the country have been the scene of angry meetings, picketing, demonstrations and public outcries by citizens of many faiths against whether and how to teach pupils what sex is.

Some rightist groups have charged that classroom treatment of sex is pornographic, on sex education contains three subversive and Communist-inspired.

The Rev. James T. McHugh, director of the USCC Family Life Division, launched a "task force on sex education" in May to get experts working on Catholic teaching methods and materials.

His office sent a guideline folder to 10,000 educators and every convent in the country.

The division found in a survey this summer that one third of all U.S. Catholic dioceses—52 out of 155—already had or would have sex education programs in the 1969-70 school year.

Another 22 planned to start a program within two years, 42 those helping parents do the job. They have no plans of any kind, and they added that Catholic parishes have the right, however, to remove their child from a public school if they feel their moral or religious beliefs are being violated.

Three Essential — The three prelates said the program within two years, 42 those helping parents do the job. They have no plans of any kind, and they added that Catholic parishes have the right, however, to remove their child from a public school if they feel their moral or religious beliefs are being violated.

Immediate Decision Unlikely

Mrs. Meir Asks Nixon for More Military Hardware

WASHINGTON (AP) — Israel's Prime Minister Golda Meir is briefing President Nixon on the full array of her nation's economic and military needs.

While the White House says there is no need for an immediate decision on her plea for more planes, Nixon has saluted the "brave and courageous people" of Israel.

Toasting the 71-year-old prime minister at a White House dinner Thursday night, Nixon said: "We hope that as a result of our meeting that we will have taken a significant step forward toward that peace which can mean so much to the people of Israel, to the people of all the Mideast and also to the people of the world."

Nixon added that the people of Israel deserve and have earned lasting peace. Mrs. Meir told Nixon that when she returns home "I will tell my people . . . don't become cynical, don't give up hope, don't believe everything is just judged only by expediency. "There is idealism in this world . . . there is a great and powerful country, the United States, that feels that the existence of Israel is important because it is important that we all live and all exist, no matter how small and how troubled we are." Some differences of opinion, acknowledged following Nixon's hour-long talk with Mrs. Meir Thursday, apparently center mainly on procedures rather than on Israel's bid for additional military hardware. U.S. officials hope negotiations through the Big Four powers—the United States, Soviet Union, Britain and France—could bring a compromise solution that would avert open and large-scale war in the Middle East.

Dist. Atty. James Long was one of several county officials who spoke Thursday night at a non-support discussion meeting. Included among other officials at the public session were, starting at Long's left and continuing clockwise, Board Chairman Sylvester Esler, Judge Urban P. Van Susteren, Executive Secretary Alvin Woehler, Supervisors Marvin Babbitt and Patrick Heenan, Clerk of Courts Gloria Johnson, and Albert Eggert, director of the Outagamie County Department of Social Services. ## New High School Addition Shiocton Votes for Bonding SHIOCTON — District electors overwhelmingly approved a $610,000 high school bonding program Wednesday at a special election.

Result of the vote showed 155 persons favoring the program, while 45 cast negative votes. The board of education can now go ahead with plans for selling $610,000 in general obligation bonds to finance a 30,340 square foot addition to the school.

T. G. Evensen Company, Minneapolis, is the financial consultant for the district and will handle the bond sale and setting up the amortization schedule.

Two Stories

A two-story construction is proposed by R. W. Surplice, Green Bay architects, which could eventually serve as a new high school with some slight additions.

Plans also call for renovating 4,300 square feet of the present school which was constructed in 1915. A gymnasium, kitchen and band room were added in 1963 at the time a new elementary school was constructed adjacent to the high school.

Building Features

Plans for the addition call for construction east of the present building. Construction will enable the new structure to serve as the front for a new high school if the district would desire it in the future.

First floor of the addition is to provide a lobby, small gymnasium (to be used as an exercise gym and possibly for wrestling practice), arts and crafts room, rest rooms, a teachers lounge, an additional classroom, wood shop, a three-room home economics department, and a dark room and publications room.

The second floor is to contain a science department, a chorus room and a large group room which can be used as a commons-study area.

Supt. Robert McCoy said future use of the commons could include a large team-teaching area, or it could be divided by means of movable partitions into more conventional classrooms. The room is to have an 84-student capacity.

Shiocton School District has a tax base of $13,595,400 and has $520,000 in outstanding indebtedness.

School Board Opposes Change Stockbridge to Appeal CESA Vote to Switch District Land

STOCKBRIDGE — Plans to appeal the decision of Cooperative Educational Service Agency (CESA) 10 school committee which detached three parcels from the Stockbridge School District last week and attached them to Chilton School District, were revealed Thursday night by the board of education here.

CESA's order would become effective Jan. 1. Property owners involved are Melvin Thiel, T.S. Beers and Peter Woelfel.

Board members indicated they will seek legal advice in the situation. Appeal forms have been obtained and the district has until Oct. 18 to file.

The agency school committee's decision came on a 4-2 vote, after several public meetings.

Teacher Contract

Contract for Francis Moran as 6-8th grade teacher was signed. Moran has had 15 years of teaching experience and is a few credits short of a master's degree. A contract also was signed by Mrs. Elizabeth Fischer as study hall supervisor.

Supt. Donald Meyers told the board he would fight for reinstating the school in the Eastern Wisconsin Conference. At a recent coaches' gathering a "straw vote" returned a 6-4 decision with one abstaining.

The school was dropped from the conference last year, because of possible reorganization. Meyers explained that although Stockbridge is not able to place in conference standings, it has to meet conference recommendations of paying four referees $15 each for varsity games.

Three coaches receive $10 for junior varsity tilts.

Meyers said he felt that if the school must pay $90 it should be considered again for membership. The district does belong to the Wisconsin Interscholastic Athletic Association.

Other Action

In other action, it was agreed to have Paul's Electric install heating in the Title 1 room, at a cost of about $300. The sale of 14 typewriters at $50 each also got the go-ahead from the panel.

A letter from the Middleton School District was read objecting to the recently passed Assembly Bill A-713 prohibiting sex education in public schools. The letter indicated the district believed that such action undermines the authority of the local school board and is detrimental to local control. An effort to ask the Senate to defeat the bill is being made by the Middleton District.

A contract for transporting a handicapped child to New Holstein was signed with Brillion at $3.25 a day.

Action was delayed on purchasing another sewing machine for the home economics room and it was agreed that a third driver education vehicle was not necessary at present.

'Beer, Yes; Baby's Milk, No.'

BY BILL KNUTSON

A lot was said about non-support Thursday night. Nothing was done about what some people in Outagamie County consider a pressing problem, but there were plenty of suggestions.

Some 45 persons, many of them estranged men and women, came to the courthouse to hear several county officials say they were doing all they could to get support money for angry, needy women.

'Mushroomed'

But, several men and women who came to the public meeting arranged by Dist. Atty. James R. Long and County Board Chairman Sylvester Esler thought that what was being done was not enough. And they said so.

Esler opened the meeting by saying that he had wanted an informal conference with a few county officials about the alleged non-support problem but that, partially through the actions of the news media, the whole thing "mushroomed" and it turned into a public meeting.

He then called on five county officials for comments.

Long was first on the list. He admitted, "...I'm not doing the job in non-support I wish I could," but he said it was because he did not have adequate office help to handle the volume of paper work that accompanies the collecting of support money through criminal actions. He said he has asked the county board's personnel committee for more office help, but so far he has gotten no help.

Outagamie County Judge Urban P. Van Susteren, who handles nearly all divorce court matters, blamed the news media for creating the impression there is a "complete breakdown" in support matters in Outagamie County.

Investigative Time

Atty. John Ensley, recently-named part-time family court commissioner, said he thinks he is making progress, but he explained that he needs an annual budget of more than $6,000. He also recommended the "allocation" of 50 hours investigative time in a six-months period, from the sheriff's department, to delve into non-support cases, with an eye toward prosecution.

Alfred R. Eggert, director of the Outagamie County Department of Social Services, assured everyone he "stands ready to help," but he admitted he was "not totally satisfied with the collection of

"Too many women are told to go to the welfare department," Eggert maintained.

Circuit Court Clerk Gloria Johnson, whose office is a clearing house for support payments, said she needs more office help and better mechanical equipment to do a more efficient job of keeping tabs on the payments.

After Miss Johnson spoke, Esler told the nearly-full county board room he was adjourning the meeting. He told them they had come to hear county officials tell of their duties in relation to the collection on support monies.

Another Meeting

Esler told them another meeting would be scheduled

New County Jail May Face Further Delay

Meeting in Oshkosh Valley Officials Urged to Consider Region Data Bank

OSHKOSH — City Manager Angus Crawford has invited Fox Valley municipal officials to come here Friday and consider setting up a computerized "data bank" for storing basic information on physical and economic development of the region.

None of the valley's cities or villages is large enough by itself to afford the sophisticated and costly equipment needed for such a project, Crawford wrote in a letter to fellow officials.

He suggested, however, they might be able to support the facility if they share the cost.

He sent letters to chief executives of Appleton, Kaukauna, Neenah, Menasha, Fond du Lac and the Fox Valley Council of Governments, and to Dr. Millan Vuchich, who heads the bureau of urban and regional research at Oshkosh State University.

Census Data

Vuchich recently headed a project to assemble basic information that will make it possible to break down the 1970 federal census of the valley, block by block, to assist commercial and industrial developers and government leaders.

Crawford said in a telephone interview that census information, which after 1970 will be available in much more useful form in this region, partly because of Dr. Vuchich's efforts, also could be useful in operating a data bank.

Crawford characterized his proposal as a suggestion for the communities "to pool our resources and information" to develop the system.

It could be a storehouse for "static" information for use in planning only or might be set up as an "operational" system, providing a daily supply of information that could assist municipal department heads in carrying out their functions, said Crawford.

The system could be useful by providing "ready accessibility of information that now takes hours or days to collect and analyze," Crawford explained.

He added that in modern times of rapid change and complexity in government operations, municipal officials "need tools, I think, to speed up our availability of information and the decision-making process."

Mayor George Buckley said, however, he would not be able to attend the luncheon meeting because he was scheduled to be at two meetings at the same time. And, the mayor added, he had no time to send in his place.

He noted that his office consisted of only himself and a secretary. "This is the same as it was in the 1930s," the mayor said. "The city has grown but the mayor's office has not," he added.

Marion Lions Pledge $4,000 to Community Projects This Week

The county board chairman indicated state officials would be contacted to determine what effect the governor's request would have on the state order.

Knowles' Request That Counties Review Capital Expenditures Is Reason

BY DON CASTONIA
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

A delay in plans for constructing a new jail and sheriff's department facilities for Outagamie County probably will be sought next week.

County Board Chairman Sylvester Esler, Appleton, said Thursday he would meet with the board's public properties and the executive committees to discuss postponing the project in view of Gov. Warren P. Knowles' action Tuesday.

Knowles, in an address to the Wisconsin County Board Association, announced formation of a task force to review state capital outlay projects and asked counties to do the same in an effort to fight inflation.

Capital Outlays Cutback

The governor asked the counties to cooperate by postponing or delaying capital outlays wherever possible.

"I am not saying we do not need the new jail," Esler said, "but we should probably hold off if possible."

Esler added he did not know how long a delay in construction he would ask for. He noted that Knowles had said the situation could last "for a year or for just a few months."

Knowles' request came on the heels of a meeting he and other governors attended in Washington. A 75 per cent cutback in federal construction projects was announced as an effort to stem inflation. Construction costs have been increasing at an annual rate of 15 per cent, Knowles reported.

Esler also indicated that other departmental capital outlay requests will be looked at closely when the finance committee starts its budget review Oct. 6.

Extended Order

Outagamie County has been under an extended state order to correct jail deficiencies by either building a new jail or remodeling the existing facility.

The county board chairman indicated state officials would be contacted to determine what effect the governor's request would have on the state order.

The request for a delay, if accepted by the county board, would come only days after the architects were given the high down high insurance costs for plans for a safety building.

Appleton to request further joint efforts toward a safety building.

Work is now proceeding on plans to construct a three-story addition between the present courthouse and annex to house the jail, courtroom facilities and office space for the sheriff's department.

Fire, Rescue Study Will be Ready Soon

Department Chiefs Leary of Report to COG Committee

A regional fire and rescue committee was told Thursday that consultants would have the study for upgrading individual operations and possible cooperative programs in about two months.

C. J. Winquist, of Gage, Babcock and Associates, Inc., Mt. Kisco, N.Y., announced the anticipated completion date as he outlined the general goals of the analysis to Fox Valley Council of Governments (COG) technical fire and rescue advisory committee.

At the same time, one fire chief made it clear that individual fire departments may not be eager to relinquish any authority or give up any area they cover.

Fire Chiefs Weary

Otto Stoegebauer, Oshkosh Fire Chief, related the feeling of another fire chief: "No one will take over my department."

However, Stoegebauer said the study may be worthwhile, if it doesn't overlap past studies. He added that if "good things come from it for the area, we've gained something."

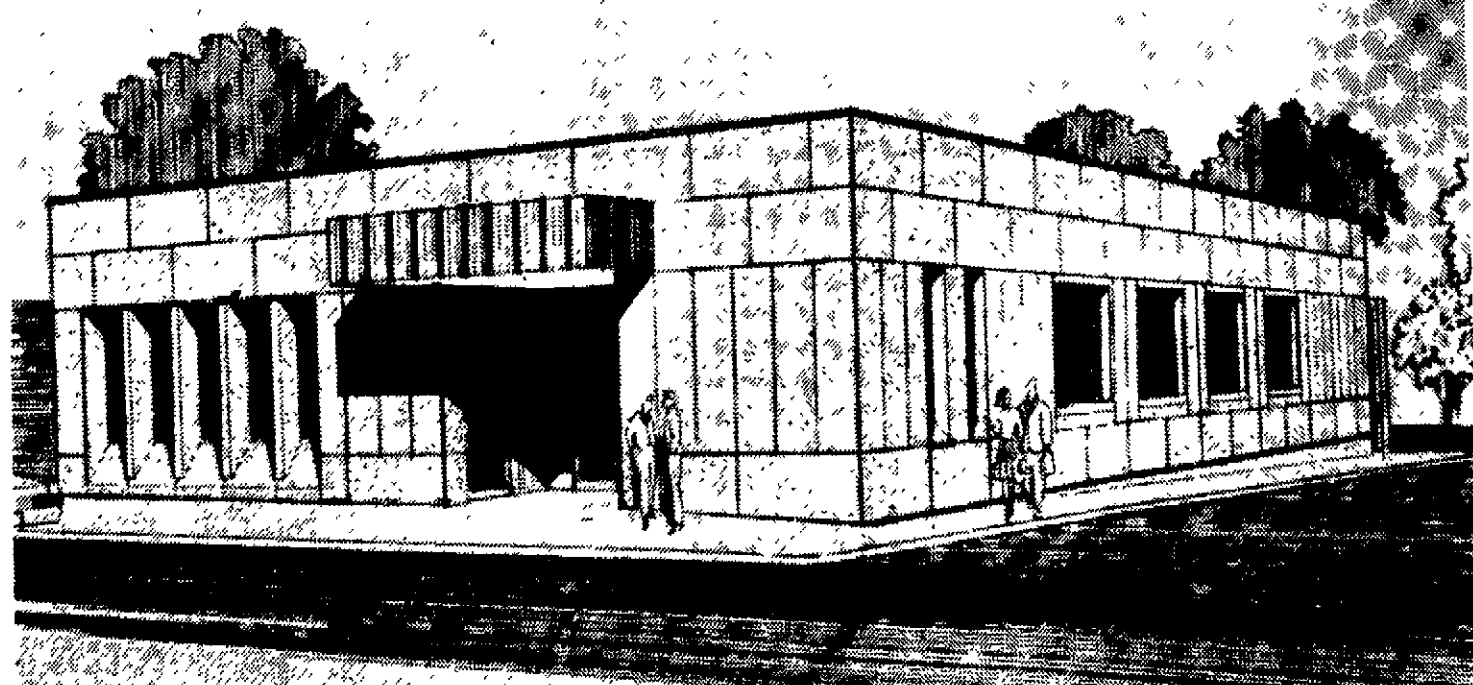

Roland Kuehl, Appleton fire chief, said he felt it would be good for an outside expert to take a look at the area and possibly come up with upgrading and improved ways to protect the area. He said there may be ways to fight fires more economically and ways to bring down high insurance costs for plans for a safety building.

No Action Yet

The committee took no action Thursday because study still is in a very early stage.

This is an Artists Conception of the new Seymour State Bank which is scheduled to be started this month. The bank, which is a member of the Valley Bancorporation, will have six teller windows, spacious lobby, conference room and two offices on the ground level. Plans are for a large social room in the basement. A drive-in window is planned on the building's south side. The building will be on the site of the present facility at the intersection of Main and W. Wisconsin streets.

100 Deer Hunters Vie for 50 Party Permits at Calumet

CHILTON — About 100 hunters seeking party deer permits stood in line at the court house here Thursday hoping to receive one of the 50 permits issued by County Clerk Donald Schwabe, the quota for Calumet County.

Some of the deer hunters arrived at midnight and stayed in their cars until the court house opened its doors at 8 a.m. About 30 were in line by 9 a.m. and the line soon started blocking traffic in the court house corridors as the rain began coming down outside.

Hunters not able to get permits still have a chance to receive one, by mailing their request to Department of Natural Resources, Madison.

Lesson in Public Relations

Tell People What You Have

BY ROGER PITT Post-Crescent Staff Writer

MANAWA — Personable and talented Jack Gray spurred Waupaca County Chamber of Commerce members Wednesday with a stirring presentation on the value of public relations.

Gray, presently general manager of Fort Dells, spearheaded the Wisconsin Dells area chamber in the late 1950's and early 1960's as executive director.

The only difference between communities are the men who live in them, Gray emphasized. "A man must be willing to give one-third as many hours to his community as he gives to his job. All progress is change, but hicle 'left of the center line, which resulted in a collision on S'tate 49, four miles south of Clintonville.

1,500 Grade Pupils Study Conservation

Calumet Schools Conduct Field Days At Fritz Farm

CHILTON — Raw and windy weather failed to deter the interest of some 1,500 Calumet County elementary pupils from grades 5-8 when they completed three days of conservation field days Wednesday on the Norman Fritz farm, route 2, Elkhart Lake.

The program, which started Monday, gave the pupils a general knowledge of soil formation, farm ponds and water pollution study as well as soil uses, zoning and land management and government agencies that regulate farm programs.

The farm has an ideal layout with several conservation programs put to work. A large pond stocked with fish offers a picturesque setting amid the rolling terrain adapted to contour farming.

Several holes were drilled in the ground at different places to offer a better look at factors of soil formation and its adaptability to different uses. The pupils also were able to study at a tiling exhibit in the field which curtails pollution.

The three-day school was conducted in two sections by the Calumet County Soil Conservation Department and consisted of two hours of lecturing and viewing both in the morning and afternoon.

Schools participating in the school were from Hilbert, Sherwood, Brillion, Rantoul, New Holstein and Chilton.

Student Aids Program Told

Brillion Principal, Counselor Will Give Parents Information

BRILLION — Lloyd Jostad, high school principal, and Dean Wallace, guidance counselor, attended a regional workshop on higher education recently at the University of Wisconsin-Green Bay.

Representatives from the independent colleges, the Wisconsin State University System, the University of Wisconsin System and the Vocational-Technical System explained their educational programs.

Included in the financial aids programs for students that were discussed in the afternoon are state and federal grants and loans, scholarships and work-study programs. These financial aids extend the opportunity of higher education to individuals who otherwise may not have adequate financial means, it was explained.

All students in vocational and technical education in the 1970-71 academic year will be eligible for the same financial assistance as students attending four-year colleges, the group was told.

Information on financial aids, and applications for assistance can be obtained here from Wallace. Parents of high school seniors will be contacted by letter regarding information meetings to be conducted in Brillion Oct. 16, 21 and 23. Individual families can arrange day or evening conferences with Wallace by calling the high school office.

New Tax Laws Threaten Wisconsin Manufacturers

A Fox Cities industrialist Kaukauna, general chairman of the Wisconsin Paper Industry Information Service, an association of state paper manufacturers, warned state legislators today the new tax law places Wisconsin manufacturers in "economic jeopardy" and will curtail their future expansion in the state.

The assessment was contained in a letter from J. T. The percentage will undoubtedly go higher as additional sections are considered, he wrote.

County Officials Hear Sad Details About Welfare Life

and that it was not the right time for questions.

He met with shouts of protest from the audience. There was a two-hour question and answer period that almost from the beginning turned into an airing of individual complaints from men and women who have experienced support problems. Some county officials said they feared just that would happen.

A man who was supporting his children because his ex-wife's husband wasn't charged that support orders were not being enforced in Outagamie County.

Another man sought "justice" for the husband. He said the court ordered him out of the house he built with his own hands. He said his wife is now living in that house and is chasing around with other men under the eyes of his minor children. He said he could not get enthused about paying her alimony and support.

A woman complained because she could not collect back support payments totaling $125 from her ex-husband.

Too Much Work

Another woman said she would like to have just part of the $30,000 her husband owed her. She said she hasn't remarried because she is too busy working to support her children.

A rural Appleton woman was critical of Wisconsin's non-support laws, which she contended "... makes it much easier to take milk from the baby than beer from the old man."

Another woman asked why there was little success in collecting support money when the husband or former husband lives out of state.

Long told her her his office has started many reciprocal non-support actions in other states, but he said there was nothing he could do about a lack of initiative by officials in the other states.

Van Susteren, after making it clear to a social worker that he did not need one of them in his court, echoed an earlier recommendation to a county board committee that what his divorce court does need is a personal "aide-de-camp" who could make in-depth investigations into support and custody matters arising from cases in his court.

Needs $5,000

That investigator, who he estimated he could hire for $5,000, could report back to him and could testify in court as to discoveries made in individual cases.

Van Susteren has long opposed suggestions that he add a professional social worker to his court staff to work on certain phases of divorce cases.

Corporation Counsel A W Ponath said he sees the need for a full-time investigator to look into non-support matters.

Long said he likes the idea of putting non-supporters in jail under Huber Law (work release).

"We're finding out things tonight we didn't know before," Esler remarked.

No date was set for another meeting.

Laos, Cambodia Face Same Fate as Vietnam

The United States Senate last week unanimously approved an amendment to a military appropriation bill which would require Congressional approval of any American combat commitment in Thailand or Laos. But it's difficult to spell out exactly what a combat commitment is.

As far as Thailand is concerned, United States and Thai officials in 1965 signed an agreement whereby we would assist Thailand in repelling outside aggression. During his recent visit to Bangkok President Nixon said we'd help if Thailand were threatened by internal enemies as well Secretary of Defense Melvin Laird has commented that he doesn't recognize the 1965 pact and he doesn't think the President does either.

All of this is confusing enough but the situation in Laos is even more so. An agreement reached in 1962 called for the withdrawal of all foreign troops from Laos so the troika style government could in theory squabble without outside pressures. The Communist representatives soon withdrew from active governmental participation and the Communist Pathet Lao has continued sporadic raids in the north which have increased in the last few months.

The United States has conceded that since the war in Vietnam intensified and we became increasingly involved, that Thai-based American planes have been used to bomb parts of the Ho Chi Minh trail through Laos. There has been no objection from the Laotian government.

But recently it has been charged that American planes have taken part in backing up Laotian ground troops in attacking, not only suspected North Vietnamese troops in the area, but the Pathet Lao as well. State Department spokesman Carl Bartsch says that "we have military personnel in Laos but there are no combat troops." However, he also said that American planes were flying reconnaissance missions over Laos at the request of the Laotian government and they were accompanied by armed escorts. This seems to meet a reasonable definition of combat troops.

Senator Stuart Symington of the Foreign Relations Committee and an opponent of our role in Vietnam, has announced that his committee has actually been studying the extent of our military involvement in Laos from some time. "We've been at war in Laos for years," he says flatly, "and it is time the American people knew more of the facts." He intends to hold closed door hearings on the information his researchers have gathered and determine what can be told the American public without endangering security.

It is quite clear that attempting to isolate the war in Vietnam from its neighbors is an impossible task. Laos and Cambodia, in particular, do not have the forces to keep out the North Vietnamese. Americans or South Vietnamese who want to escape attack temporarily, pursue the enemy or find a way around the DMZ. The jungle is too thick and the terrain too rough in any case for such troops easily to be detected. Laotian and Cambodian leaders also simply do not want to be on the wrong side of the possible outcome of the war.

It seems likely that when the Vietnamese war does end, there will be increasing pressure upon Laos from the north. A political settlement for the entire area is the ideal but the attitude of the North Vietnamese in particular at this time is not encouraging.

Once again the really difficult decision is going to face President Nixon and indirectly the American people: is our opposition to American military involvement in the area great enough for us to accept the fact that a considerable part of Vietnam, Cambodia and Laos may in the future be Communist influenced, dominated or even controlled? The mistakes we made in the past, such as backing the French colonial effort and then sending in half a million American troops and not being able to win a military victory, have combined to make the Communist effort more successful.

Some Progress in Northern Ireland

This year's version of "the Troubles" are continuing in Northern Ireland, although the presence of British troops have generally managed to keep the peace in the last couple of weeks. But the basic causes for the unrest and violence have not been changed.

However, a prestigious committee, appointed by Northern Ireland's predominantly Protestant government several months ago, has made its report that in general upholds the claims of the minority Roman Catholics about discrimination.

The committee consisted of Lord Cameron, a Scottish High Court judge, Sir John Biggart and James Campbell, both with Queen's University in Belfast and all Protestants. The report heavily criticizes the extremists on both sides, the one led by the almost fanatical anti-Catholic Pastor Ian Paisley, and the other by Miss Bernadette Devlin. But the report also backs up the charges that over the years there has been widespread discrimination against Northern Ireland Catholics particularly in the fields of housing, jobs and voting rights.

The antagonism from the Protestants is obviously based upon a fear of eventually being out-voted by the Catholics who might press toward reunion with the Republic of Ireland. The fears were undoubtedly increased when spokesmen in the Republic suggested some sort of federalism of the entire island. Northern Ireland is closely tied to England, politically and economically, and the Protestant elements would expect something less than equal treatment within the Republic, especially since it has discriminated against Catholics in the north for so long.

Fortunately the Prime Minister of Northern Ireland, Chichester-Clark, is a moderate who is in favor of legislation to end discrimination as far as possible. He now has the objective report of the Cameron committee to give force to his point of view.

No Construction Cutback for Congress

It should be quite difficult for the average American taxpayer to understand the approval by the House of Representatives of a massive remodeling and rebuilding job on the Capitol in Washington.

The Congressmen approved the initial spending of $2 million for a project that is estimated to reach $45 million and probably will go much higher. Fortunately the matter has to go to the Senate which in the past has managed to defeat it.

It is true that the west wall of the Capitol is in a state of poor repair, is crumbling and undoubtedly will collapse unless it is fixed. But the proposal approved by the House calls for extensive additions of restaurants and offices which simply aren't needed except as luxuries for Congressmen. Every Senator and Representative has an office not far away in the tremendously expensive new office buildings. Some want offices in the Capitol itself as status symbols and to get away from the debates. Since they have already given themselves healthy boosts in salary to meet the problems of inflation that are plaguing all Americans, their callous authorization of an unneeded expenditure must reflect a considerable amount of ignorance about the opinions of their constituents.

There are also some disputes about the aesthetic values of the proposed addition. All in all, we certainly hope the Senate files this one away for some time.

More Americans Killed by Drugs Annually Than Deaths in Vietnam

By WILLIAM F. BUCKLEY.

The news is that marijuana has become scarce as a result of the development of effective techniques for preventing its entry into the country — that, and a providential drought in Mexico which supplies 90 per cent of the stuff. I say providential and then worry about it, because the news also is that on account of the scarcity, the use of hashish is greatly growing, and whatever one thinks about the perils of marijuana, one takes a much darker view of the use of mystique by Dr. Timothy Leary and others the rate of increase, according to Mr. Jones, rose ten times to the current level. He estimates that between one quarter and one half of the student population in California is experimenting with drugs, and that addition of various kinds will result: indeed, he takes as a historical analogy of what might happen to us, the great Chinese addiction (90 per cent) to opium during the 19th Century, said by some to have brought down Chinese civilization.

Dr. Jones is very stern towards those who are permissive with marijuana. He says about it 1) that it is habit-forming, 2) that "with continued use" it is addictive; 3) that although it does not lead to the use of harder narcotics through chemical addiction, it promotes a curiosity about the harder drugs, 4) that its effect is cumulative, witness that a neophyte needs several joints to "turn on," whereas a professional can get high on one; 5) that it interferes with normal perceptions, 6) that its cumulative impact brings repeated hallucinations that disturb the reference memory, causing 7) wholesale abandonment of goals and ambitions.

Amphetamines? They are by far the most widely used of the dangerous drugs, and there is an awakening to their danger. In one of the permissive Scandinavian countries they have been flatly outlawed. Not even the pharmacists may dispense them, not even on doctor's orders, such is the year of this hypo that leads to mental derangements, strange and brutal and uncoordinated activity, and to the breakdown of the psyche.

BOOM IN DRUG USE
Along comes Professor Hardin Jones, of the Donner Laboratory at the University of California at Berkeley, with the single most frightening statistic of them all, namely that at the current rate, drug consumption is rising by seven per cent per month, a most extraordinary rise justifying crash programs. Between 1962 and 1965, Professor Jones has written to Governor Reagan, the rate of increase was 0.7 per cent, doubling the number of users every eight years. After the big publicity of 1965 and the elaboration of the drug

SEXUAL STIMULANTS
And he goes on to say that marijuana and other drugs are in a very real sense sexual stimulants. Marijuana is a mild aphrodisiac. "It enhances sensitivity and makes a person more receptive to sensual stimuli, but this condition only lasts a short period of time and chronic marijuana users find that sex activities without the drug are difficult and confusing." Under amphetamines, "the person becomes addicted with a single trial because amphetamines induce a pre-organic sexual response which is associated with the brain and not with the genitalia and which will last as long as the person keeps taking the drug." The sexual urge being in so many cases dominant, over-use becomes the name of the game, leading to "massive, irreparable brain damage for those who have been continuously on the drug for several days."

Dr. Jones soberly estimates that more Americans are killed every year by drugs than in Vietnam, pausing to remark the irony that some drug users understand themselves to be engaged in protesting unnecessary deaths in Vietnam.

Congressman Edward Koch of New York has proposed a national commission to study marijuana, and it is unimaginable why such a group is not immediately organized. The gradual public reaction against tobacco, had it crystallized earlier, might have released hundreds of thousands of people from cruel death sentences. We are dealing with drugs in many cases infinitely more dangerous: and we simply need to know more about them. And need to know what are the legitimate lengths a government can go to in order to prevent people from damaging themselves, a vexing philosophical question concerning which more anon.

Veteran Wardens at Reformatory, Waupun Retiring This Year

By SANGER B. POWERS
MADISON — The retirement of John C. Burke as warden of the Wisconsin State Prison and Michel A. Skaff as warden of the Wisconsin State Reformatory later this year will mark the end of two long and distinguished careers in corrections in Wisconsin and in this country.

Warden Burke began employment in the state as a probation and parole agent in became apparent that it was no longer possible to recruit trained, qualified personnel for correctional positions, both in the field of probation and parole as well as institutional administration. Since that time, the division has recruit-

Powers

Sanger B. Powers is a career man in the state government service and has held a variety of responsible positions. He is now the chief of the State Division of Corrections, which is responsible for the operation of a diversity of correctional institutions for youth and adults.

1931, later becoming institutional parole officer at the Wisconsin State Prison in 1934. When he was appointed warden in 1938, Burke was the youngest warden in the nation and as he retires 31 years later he will have served longer than any other warden in the nation. Warden Skaff also began employment in 1931 at the prison and since that time has had a variety of increasingly responsible positions including the acting superintendency of five different institutions. When he leaves the Reformatory at the end of the year, Warden Skaff will have been in that post 14 years.

REPLACEMENT READY

Wisconsin is indeed fortunate in having suitable replacements readily available for both these important positions. Both Elmer O. Cady, who will replace Warden Burke, and Donald L. Quatsoe, who will replace Warden Skaff, graduated from the University of Wisconsin, where they majored in correctional administration. Both have participated in the training and staff development programs of the Division of Corrections and have served in a variety of administrative positions at several institutions and in the division office. Both have served as associate wardens, as members of the Wisconsin Parole Board and as directors of the Bureau of Management Services and Bureau of Institutional Services of the Division.

Some years ago the Division of Corrections began a "do it yourself" training and staff development program when it ed many likely young university graduates interested in careers in corrections and who have the potential, both personally and professionally, to succeed.

Some of those who were employed in that manner are now in their middle thirties, have completed graduate training with division financial assistance and have been afforded the opportunity for a variety of increasingly important job experiences in the correctional field. As a result suitable replacements have been available as all key administrative positions become vacant.

Promotion Through Training.
Other staff members who have participated in the division's staff development and training programs and who have been appointed to key administrative positions include:

Roland E. McCauley, deputy administrator, Division of Corrections; John R. Gagnon, warden, Wisconsin Correctional Institution-Fox Lake; Roland C. Hershman, superintendent, Wisconsin School for Boys-Wales; Paul D. Prasi, superintendent, Kettle Moraine Boys School-Plymouth; Paul Impler, superintendent, Lincoln Boys School-Irma.

Wisconsin's correctional programs, services and institutions have achieved national recognition. Wisconsin's trained personnel, as a result, are in demand to fill important corrections posts in other states and to provide consultative and survey services.

The problem for the future will not be that of continuing a productive recruitment and staff development program, but rather one of continuing to provide career opportunities to insure the retention of personnel with executive and management potential.

Strictly Personal

Everybody Cannot Be Good in Same Way

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

It is easy to see that people have many kinds of badness; it is much harder to see that there are just as many kinds of goodness.

The mistake of the bad person lies in convincing himself that "goodness" does not really exist; the mistake of the good person lies in believing that there is only one kind of goodness — his kind.

This is why so many virtuous, sober, prudent, honest, respectable men and women cannot make their husbands or wives or children happy. They think that the virtues they possess are the only virtues — and they want everybody to be "good" in the same way.

But everybody cannot be good in the same way, just as everybody is not bad in the same way. The wife, for instance, who is loyal and dutiful and self-sacrificing may at the same time be lacking in the virtues of humor, magnanimity, and tolerance.

Children most often are made to feel guilty because they are unlike their parents. They are accused of being negligent or wild or lazy — vices which the parents do not possess.

These same children, however, may have virtues which the parents do not possess. They may have a more flexible attitude toward society; they may be more charitable toward their inferiors; they may be bluntly honest in their judgments, while the parents are sanctimoniously hypocritical.

It is the outstanding vice of "good" people that they are smug about the virtues they do possess, while ignoring those they lack.

They construct a moral edifice for humanity, with their own virtues at the very top — and they want every building to resemble their own.

Apart from the psychological narrowness of this viewpoint, there is a deep moral danger. God did not mean all people to be alike, or He would have made them alike; and it is our task to find the special goodness residing in each person, not to try to make him over into our image.

If the bad person tries to play the Devil, the good person often commits the greater sin of trying to play God.

Dormitory Income Far Under Needs of State Universities

3,000 Vacancies Exist in Units Throughout Wisconsin System

SUPERIOR (AP)—Several of the state's teacher colleges are going to have to dip into reserve funds this year because dormitory income will not meet ex-mitories, representing 10 per cent of the system's dormitory capacity.

Oshkosh, Platteville, River Falls and Superior State universities have the largest percentages of vacancies, he said.

A reserve fund, he said, will help the schools make up the deficits between dormitory income and expenses, which include borrowed funds.

Estimate Submitted

Winter submitted his estimate in a report to the regents' finance committee and to the system's Council of Presidents.

A provision for helping schools with financial shortages because of the vacancies will be included in a 1969-70 budget that regents are to review next month, Winter said.

Presidents William J. Michels of Stout State and Lee S. Dreyfus of Stevens Point State suggested part of the vacancy problem stems from letting students occupy off-campus living units.

Some of the off-campus accommodations, they said, could be made available to low-income families if students lived instead in dormitories.

Winter said other reasons for vacancies include a decline in nonresident enrollment because of tuition increases for out-of-state students, policies that low students to live off-campus more easily, and an anticipated increase in the number of students dropping out of school.

6 Pct. Increase

The system's over-all enrollment increase this year is six per cent, he said, but not as high as had been expected at some schools.

Graduate enrollment, he said, is 900 students less than forecast. There are 2,650 fewer freshmen and sophomores than expected.

Eugene R. McPhee, director of the system, said Oshkosh State had issued warnings that there might be a dormitory space shortage. The college, he said, now has about 1,000 vacancies.

"They hit the panic button," he said.

Oshkosh is not requiring sophomores to live in dormitories this fall, Winter said.

In reference to remarks by Micheels and Dreyfus about students' occupying homes that needy persons could use, Winter said off-campus living in the Oshkosh area may tie in with a housing shortage being reported in the Fox River Valley.

Broad Obligation

Dreyfus said the system should study the impact of students living off campus, explaining to the finance committee: "As a public body, your obligation is broad."

Milton Neshek, a regent from Elkhorn, said communities could use zoning to restrict student access to local housing.

The officials were told the dormitory vacancy problem could get worse in the 1970 spring term because of the normal enrollment attrition through dropout.

And, Winter said, out of state student enrollment can be expected to decrease another 20 per cent in the fall of 1970.

Nixon Losing Battle For Time in Vietnam

President Pressured From All Sides As War Foes Ready to Escalate Efforts

BY ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — A private conversation last week in the White House between Dr. Henry Kissinger, the President's foreign policy adviser, and two Republican Congressmen shows the President is losing the crucial battle for time in his effort to wind down the Vietnam war. What this means is that the Administration's efforts to buy time with troop withdrawals and with cancellation of draft calls for November and December have fallen far short of the goal. As McCloskey told us: "I don't think the draft reduction is going to fool anyone. It is simply an effort to buy time."

Few Options

Yet, the President has few remaining options. He has ruled out escalation. Nor will he "bug out" of the war on terms that would humiliate the U.S.

Further complicating the President's position is the pressure for caution in troop withdrawals from the uniformed military, from the U.S. Embassy in Saigon, and from career Foreign Service diplomats (led by Under Secretary Alexis Johnson).

But to follow their advice is to travel the political route of Lyndon B. Johnson. Thus, with no less a power in the Administration than Secretary of Defense Melvin Laird strongly counseling faster withdrawals and with Republicans such as Riegle and McCloskey increasingly restive, the President has little choice but to increase the pace of troop withdrawals and the winding-down of the war.

$1 Million Check Can't be Cashed, Still Worth $50

NEW YORK (AP) — When William Nelson found the check he was hurrying on an errand and "didn't pay too much attention to it."

It was a bit of a shock, then, when he looked at it with his wife Monday night and found it was made out in the amount of $1 million.

For a fleeting moment they tried to figure out how to cash it but because it was a transfer of funds between-banks it was impossible.

Tuesday he forgot the check at home when he went to work but Wednesday he got in touch with the American Bank & Trust Co. An assistant vice president said the bank was aware of the loss and had stopped payment. He also said the bank wanted the check back.

Nelson agreed: "The bank said they don't give rewards, but would $50 cover my expenses and I jumped at it."

This unsuccessful effort by Kissinger is of a piece with similar approaches by other high Administration officials to defuse the anti-war movement in a desperate play for the all-important element of time.

Bide for Time

President Nixon is convinced that if just two leading war critics — Sen. J. W. Fulbright of Arkansas, chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, and Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana — gave the Administration a six-month moratorium on all war criticism, the impact on Hanoi could be decisive. That is, the Communists would read into such a political shift a warning that Nixon's troop withdrawal policy had taken the cutting edge off dissent at home.

But neither Fulbright nor Mansfield has the slightest intention of giving the President a grace period. To the contrary, the war critics are getting ready to escalate their campaign this fall.

Thus, many Congressmen will personally take part in the massive anti-war demonstration set for Oct. 15. A move is now underfoot in the House, for example, for a bipartisan election of congressmen to attend a brief vigil at Arlington National Cemetery that day. Likewise,

Today the U.S., Tomorrow the World

NEW YORK (AP) — Sandy and Keith Hancox, a hitchhiking Australian couple who have crisscrossed much of the United States and are aiming at the world, stood on a ramp leading to the New Jersey Turnpike and crossed New Jersey—state No. 40—off their list.

"We average 10 minutes in getting a ride," Keith said Thursday as they put down their knapsacks by a sign reading: "Picking up or discharging passengers is forbidden."

Sure enough, 10 minutes later a car came to a halt and Sandy and Keith piled their knapsacks and themselves into the back seat—bound for Washington and points west.

Hancox, a 25-year-old art teacher from Brisbane, and his bride of three months, a 20-year-old former typist, hadn't even planned to come this way around the world when they first outlined their grand tour.

But a couple of weeks before they left, which was one day after their marriage, they suddenly decided to see America first.

"We never really plan ahead," said Hancox. "We take a ride and go as far as it's going, and then decide where we're going from there."

"The only thing we've really planned to do were to see the Grand Canyon and the moon shot," put in Sandy, "and we saw them both."

"They told us hitchhiking was illegal in most states," said Sandy, "but everybody has been very nice, even the police in most places."

"A New Hampshire policeman told us hitchhiking was illegal in his state but then he looked it up in the book, and found out we were all right if we stayed off the pavement. And I've been telling people it was illegal for 10 years," he said.

Night's Lodging

Most people who pick them up are kind and generous, they said, and frequently they get a night's lodging and a meal as well. If they don't, they roll out the sleeping bags along the road, under a tree or bush.

Sandy says Keith has the courage for both—"I never had it before but he is so confident in himself"—but she is unconcerned about taking baths in gas station wash-rooms and eating hot dogs and hamburgers most of the time, the only way they can keep to their $1 a day food budget.

"For about two weeks we were hungry all the time," she said, "but then we got so we could go all day without eating and not feel it."

When the couple arrived in New York to stay with friends for about a week, they had just "done" New England, and New York was the 39th state.

It almost became the low spot in their trip when a knife-wielding thief took all their cash, $15, in an uptown park.

But several New Yorkers who read of the incident in a newspaper responded so generously the bad taste turned into a sweet one.

Nixon Trying to End War in '70

ident said "I am trying to achieve" a settlement before the end of 1970, or before the middle of 1971.

As the questioning shifted to non-war subjects, Nixon was asked about his previously stated hope to avoid controversial Supreme Court appointments, and whether he would withdraw Haynsworth's nomination.

"No," Nixon replied. He said he has followed the Senate hearings on the nomination, and "I still have confidence in Judge Haynsworth's qualifications."

He said the Senate should confirm the nomination.

Responding to a second question about Judge Haynsworth, the President said that "I was aware generally of Judge Haynsworth's background," if not of all the specifics.

"Lot of Criticism"

Asked about his school desegregation policies, Nixon responded "We've had a lot of criticism from the South..."

There are two extreme groups, he said. "I believe we need to have a middle course between those two extremes," he said. "That is the course on which we're embarked."

The President was asked also about his Social Security plans—he said Thursday he would like to see a 10 per cent increase in benefits next year, and to have benefit payments adjusted each year to the cost of living.

Nixon said some believe his Social Security program to be an "automatic escalator as far as inflation is concerned." But he said his own view is different—"Where the Congress must always act... it tends to react too late or over-react to the situation. And I think it will be deflationary rather than inflationary in the long run."

Wants Tax Reform

As far as a reduction in the oil depletion allowance is concerned, he said, "I believe the oil depletion allowance is in the national interest, but I am a political realist... my primary concern is to get tax reform."

He noted that the House had not followed some of his reform recommendations, but said he would sign a reform bill "provided it did not require a revenue shortfall which is more than I believe the nation could stand."

Back on the question of Vietnam, Nixon said there has been some progress in ending the war, citing the return of troops from Vietnam and the recently announced cuts in draft calls.

Hanoi's Time

He said infiltration of troops from North Vietnam is down, as are casualties.

Nixon said he found no significant criticism of U. S. policy when he made his speech at the United Nations recently. He said it is now time for Hanoi to make a move toward ending the war.

Asked about the reasons behind Russia's failure to respond to nuclear arms negotiations, Nixon replied Secretary of State William P. Rogers expects an answer soon. He said he did not know the reason for the delay in a reply by the Russians.

Asked about U.S. involvement in Laos, Nixon said "There are no American combat forces in Laos." He said the U.S. is concerned about North Vietnamese forces in Laos.

Nixon said the U.S. has been providing some logistical support and training to combat the North Vietnamese forces but emphasized that "there are no American combat troops in Laos."

The questioning swung to the government of South Vietnam and Nixon said the Thieu regime is in power there because of an election.

"Until the people of South Vietnam have another election, that mandate should not be reversed," he said.

On the domestic side, Nixon was asked about the policy of getting more Negroes into trade unions, and said it is essential that black Americans—"all Americans"—be treated equally.

"We intend to continue... to attempt to make progress in this field because in the long run we cannot have construction unions that continue to deny membership to all, he said."

old, urban dweller and rural resident."

He said he would shortly announce his proposals dealing with tax reform, job training, the state's role in education, environmental protection and comprehensive revenue sharing.

Lucey, beaten by Republican Gov. Warren P. Knowles in a 1966 bid for the executive mansion, had been considered for several months to be a frontrunner among a half dozen possibilities for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination next year.

The 51-year-old party leader, who was lieutenant governor from 1964-66, gained national political recognition in 1960 when he engineered John F. Kennedy's successful presidential primary campaign in Wisconsin.

He joined the Robert Kennedy staff last year in the 1968 presidential campaign, then backed Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy after Kennedy was slain in California.

Lucey also figured in last year's formation of the New Democratic Coalition following McCarthy's defeat by Hubert H. Humphrey at the Democratic National Convention.

David Carley of Madison, a former Democratic national committeeman who lost the 1966 Democratic gubernatorial nomination to Lucey, has also been discussed as a 1970 possibility.

Asked about his school desegregation policies, Nixon responded "We've had a lot of criticism from the South..."

There are two extreme groups, he said. "I believe we need to have a middle course between those two extremes," he said. "That is the course on which we're embarked."

Terrorist Campaign Pushed by Enemy

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. paratroopers found two Viet Cong sapper bases less than 15 miles from Saigon in the past 24 hours, and the commander of the U.S. 2nd Field Force said the enemy "is doing his damndest" to infiltrate the demolition and sabotage experts into the South Vietnamese capital.

Saigon may be in for a "flurry of terror," said Lt. Gen. Julian Ewell. He reported that captured documents indicate the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese will rely heavily on sapper attacks in the winter-spring campaign which the U.S. Command expects to start in November.

Troops of the 82nd Airborne Division's 3rd Brigade found the first sapper camp late Thursday afternoon 12 miles northwest of Saigon. Its store of munitions included 30 pounds of plastic explosive, 550 blasting caps and 30 feet of detonating wire.

Hidden in Grass

The base was hidden in the high elephant grass of a swamp and consisted of about 25 camouflaged huts. It apparently was abandoned just before the Americans, acting on intelligence information, swept into the area. Food found in pots was still warm.

Another patrolling paratrooper unit found the second jungle base this afternoon eight miles west of the capital.

The sappers were caught in their bunkers, and first reports said seven of them were killed. There was no report of U.S. casualties.

Colorful Pebbled Lid Cover

Made of Shoebox, Flowers

BY CAPPY DICK

A cardboard shoe box can be turned into a flower box by following today's fun-project directions for boys and girls. The flowers are artificial, of course, but the overall effect of the "planting" is almost as eye-pleasing as a boxful of real flowering plants would be.

Use both the box and its lid. Decorate the outside of the box with poster paints, making a colorful design. Paint the lid a solid color, such as light yellow. When the paint has dried, use a fine-pointed felt-tipped marking pen to draw pebbles all over the yellow area as in figure 1.

Carefully make holes in the lid, poking them from the outside so that any rough edges will be on the outside of the lid where they will not be seen.

Into each hole place the stem of an artificial flower as the boy is doing in figure 2.

The flowers may be changed as often as you wish. This will enable you to create a variety of color effects.

City Official Discusses 'Truth in Packaging'

BY LAURI HAUPTLI
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Appleton consumers may thank Roger La Berge, Appleton Sealer of Weights and Measures, when they purchase items by weight, volume or length. He is their protection he told the Appleton Vocational School Home-maker's Club Wednesday afternoon. In an enlightening speech he explained his job, giving tips for the shopper, and talked about "Truth in Packaging" within the framework of the Fair Trade and Packaging Act of 1966.

La Berge insures that the Appleton consumer gets the quantity that he has paid for. He inspects scales, fabric meters, gasoline dispensers and anything else in the city that measures. He even checks the counterweights of a pharmacist's scale for accuracy.

Consumer Aided
He pointed out that "the consumer got truth in packaging because it was too hard to figure out the best buy." When the sizes were all different, a slide rule was needed for comparison shopping. The shopper may now expect a clear label which lists all ingredients and gives the exact quantity of the product.

Industry, nationally, was

Mrs. Robert Rusch, Mrs. James Evans and Mrs. Kermit Hahn talk with speaker Roger La Berge, Appleton Sealer of Weights and Measure, before his speech to the Appleton Vocational School Homemaker's Club Wednesday afternoon.

told to decide upon the number and sizes of packages within a year, La Berge continued. The results were amazing. Adhesive bandage containers dropped from 37 to 10 sizes, dry detergent, from 24 to six; macaroni, from 32 to 16; peanut butter, from 30 to 12, and toothpaste, from 57 to five. "It was a tremendous job by industry," Mr. La Berge concluded.

This standardization of packages helps the consumer. There are fewer items from which to choose, he said, and production costs should be less.

Eventually all weights will be given in grams, he continued. The change will be costly to this country, so it is occurring very slowly. At present the closest thing we have is meat weights which are given in decimals.

Shrinkage can be Costly
Returning his remarks to the city, La Berge said that his work costs about six cents per person per year, and the supervision saves the consumer an estimated $200 per year.

Speaking directly to the shopper, he warned about shrinkage in groceries. Ham and summer sausage are especially shrinkable items on the meat counter. It is quite possible that the actual weight might differ from the stated weight. A good wrapper raises the content weight slightly to account for this, he said.

In the produce department bananas and potatoes are affected in the same way. He suggested that these items be watched carefully. If they have been weighed, marked and are just sitting on a table

Let Sediment Settle

The best buys are fresh vegetables in season, he continued. They have the least shrinkage. A good produce man uses rotation and puts the newer items in the back or on the bottom, he explained to guard against weight loss.

In other areas he advised that people wait to buy gas if they see the tanks being filled. The new liquid stirrups sediments that no filter can keep out, he said. He made a similar suggestion for those who have oil heat. Turn off the furnace during oil deliveries, as this storage tank has sediment, too.

The trend toward having scales easily accessible in a grocery store was praised by La Berge. A patron can easily purchase exactly the amount she wants. Another good idea is to have the scale at the check-out counter, he said. Items are weighed at the time of purchase, which eliminates the problem of shrinkage.

He also warned against deceptive packaging. For example, a 10 ounce package of potato chips may come in the same size box that formerly held one pound. "Don't let your eyes deceive you," he stated.

In closing Mr. La Berge remarked in answer to a question about disreputable merchants that there are no culprits in Appleton. "Wrong measurements are given by mistake," he said.

Your Problems

This Is Not Way to Keep Him Honest

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: We have been married less than a year. My husband's boss is taking four of his top salesmen to Las Vegas for five days. I say if he goes I'm getting on the next plane and will join him.

We've been quarreling about this for a month.

I should tell you that my husband is good looking and a bit of a flirt but I'm sure he has never cheated. Do you think it is fair for a married man to go on a pleasure trip while his wife stays home and works in an office all day? Am I wrong to insist on following him? I'd like to hear what your readers have to say about this. I don't want to hear from any men. I know what they think — Montreal Brown Eyes

Dear M. B. E.: If you are interested in what I think, here it is:

Obviously your husband is being rewarded by his boss, and I think you should be proud of him and stay home.

Love doesn't run scared. It is mutual trust and confidence. The wife who checks, sets traps, surrounds and suffocates her husband will not keep him honest. She will simply make him more careful. No husband ever remained faithful because his wife kept an eye on him. The man who wants to cheat will slip his collar and find a way.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My mother died when I was ten years old. That was 13 years ago. You have been like a second mother to me. I have grown up on your advice. And now I need it more than ever.

Seven weeks ago my husband was killed in an accident. Nicky was 25. We had been married only a year. Nicky and I started to go together in high school. He was a fine person and our brief marriage was a very happy one. The problem is my mother-in-law. She feels that since Nicky and I were married for such a short time I am not entitled to his insurance money. She brought this up the day after the funeral, and has been harping on it ever since. She says Nicky was her favorite son, that she was much closer to him than I was, and since I am young and will probably marry again, I should turn the money over to her. She keeps saying, "I'm sure Nicky would have wanted me to have the insurance money if he had known he was going to die so young."

I want to do the right thing, Ann, but I don't know what it is. Please guide me. — A widow at 23

Dear Friend: If Nicky had wanted his mother to have the insurance money he would have named her as the beneficiary. If she doesn't understand this, perhaps her clergyman can explain it to her.

DEAR ANN LANDERS I'm not the greatest dancer in the world but I'm not the worst. This morning my brother told me that the guy I went out with last night paid a buddy in the stag line $2 to take me off his hands. I'm so mad I can't see straight. Any suggestions? — S. Z. Q.

Dear S.: Send the clown a dollar with a note saying you were as glad to be rescued as he was and that you want to share in the cost.

If you have trouble getting along with your parents . . . if you can't get them to let you live your own life, send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Bugged by Parents? How to Get More Freedom." Send 50 cents in coin with your request and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope. (Copyright, 1969)
